

FTER some bluster, to save their faces, the Nicaraguan insurgents refuse to "agree" but "yield" surrender, to the terms laid down by Henry L. Stimson, President Coolidge's special envoy. They do not recognize Diaz as president, but they will give up the arms with which they were trying to put him out, because, if they do not hand the arms over, they will be taken from them forcibly. Meantime the American marines have formed a line between the two armies, and will not let either get at the other. Both are to surrender their arms or have them taken away. The American marines are to police the country until a new Nicaraguan police force can be formed, and then Americans are to officiate. The Americans are to supervise the election of his successor, to see that everybody has a chance to vote as he pleases, that the votes are honestly counted, and that whoever is elected is inaugurated and permitted to serve.

THIS is, of course, a frank American protectorate. It is a good solution—provided the whole mess is out of our business. We had two choices—to get out completely or to enforce peace. Eventually, peace is all that we are envoys. We stop the two armies from fighting, and take their arms from them. We leave the real president in office, but see that he recognizes the rights of his enemies. We see that the new police force keeps the peace, and does nothing else. We let the people elect them, but see to it that nobody prevents them from doing that.

LL these are good things—precisely the things which any people fit for self-government would do for themselves. The only question is whether it is our business to force these good things in Nicaragua, where they demonstrably will not otherwise exist. For Nicaragua, taken by itself, they are an mixed benefit. Every Nicaraguan except a few professional insurrectors will be better off for them. Like Mussolini's rule in Italy, if we test them by results, the results are bad. We are beginning to perceive, to Italy, that the test of results is not enough. How about Nicaragua?

THE answer can be, in good faith, that given by President Coolidge, the policy is justified. That answer is that this sort of interference is to be applied to the states north of the Canal, on this continent, and nowhere else. It is a general principle; it does not extend similar policies in South America, nor justify generally the doctrine that strong nations shall interfere with weak ones. It is a special policy, applied to this region, for reasons special to itself, and implies no general doctrine, or declaration of wider policy. On this basis, if it is good for Nicaragua, it need concern no one else.

UT if this "Coolidge doctrine" is to be the American policy, it ought to be supplemented by another, as a guarantee of good faith and of the equality of equal peoples. The "Monroe doctrine" ought to be abrogated entirely, as to the South American nations, or at least as to those South of the equator. In its place should be a new "Pan-American" policy, in which all the nations of the two continents should participate. That Pan-American would recognize a special mandate of the United States to keep the peace in Central America and the Caribbean basin, and nowhere else, and should provide for co-operation with the principal representative of South American powers, even in that protectorate. Everywhere else, in these two continents, the common affairs should be referred to a common body, a development, perhaps, of the Pan-American Union, in which the United States has no privileged position. It is only by such extension as this that the Coolidge doctrine" can be localized, in the only place where it belongs, and exercised there without producing suspicion elsewhere.

HERE was a characteristic Coolidge breakfast at the White House. Chairman Butler, just in from a political scouting trip, was the guest of honor. The rest were Congressional and party leaders, including some receptive candidates for President. "Well, tell us about it," said President Coolidge, opening the conversation. Chairman Butler told him everybody was for Coolidge, and how he would surely be nominated and elected. The others spoke in like terms. The President said nothing. When they had finished their food and their talk, he said, "Well, I guess that is all," and left. These eleven words were all President Coolidge said. They are exactly eleven words more than he has said in all the many other conversations that have been had with him—or "to" him—on the subject. And this is all anybody knows about the subject.

MEANTIME comes renewed talk from Washington of Hoover. The remarkably efficient work of Secretary Hoover, in meeting the Mississippi flood situation, has again put him in the public eye. It has, to be sure, revealed nothing except what was already known—that he is the ablest and most efficient American in public life, and that there is no conceivable task too big for him. But it has revived interest in that fact. It has demonstrated, again once, that in personal fitness for the presidency, there is no other American even remotely in Hoover's class.

BUT all this re-demonstration has nothing to do with the present situation. In the first place, Hoover is not a candidate if Coolidge is. In the second place, even in the

Fear Inundation As Water Starts Overflowing Low Parts of Council Bluffs

EXPRESS GREAT FEAR

Farmers in Blair Section Remove Live Stock, Prepare to Desert Homes

(By United Press)

OMAHA, May 12.—Warning that the Missouri river would go over its banks before this afternoon was issued to all communities and farms along the swirling stream from Lincoln, Neb., to Omaha and Council Bluffs on both the Nebraska and Iowa sides of the river by the weather bureau here today.

Blair, Neb., 25 miles from Omaha, reported at 10:30 a.m. that the river had risen within six inches of flood stage and gave promise of breaking over the adjacent farm lands and parts of the town before noon. The water this morning had begun to flood some of the lower districts of Council Bluffs. Fear was expressed the entire west end section of Council Bluffs, with a population of more than 15,000, would be inundated.

Farmers near Blair were removing the livestock and household goods to higher land and persons living close to the river in Blair and other nearby communities were preparing to desert their homes.

The river had risen more than six feet here in the last three days and is now only about two feet from flood stage.

STANDARD PRICE AIM OF OIL MEN

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, May 12.—In their efforts to stem the rising tide of petroleum over-production and alleged impending bankruptcy, oil magnates, in conference here today, agreed to submit any price stabilization plan to the Department of Justice in Washington in order to avoid conflict with the Sherman anti-trust law.

Another meeting may have to be called before a final method of checking the recent succession of price cuts on light gasoline oil is agreed upon, Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, said.

The present difficulties of the independent producers has been brought about by the recent heavy flows in the Seminole field of Oklahoma threatening the oil and gasoline industries with complete paralysis, Teagle asserted.

Leaking Meter Is Blamed for Blast

DALLAS, Texas, May 12.—Ignition of gas which leaked from a meter was given today as the explanation of the blast which last night wrecked a two-story brick building here, killing six persons and injuring 41 others.

The explosion occurred as firemen were fighting a blaze which broke out in the building early in the evening.

Thirty-five persons were on the second floor attending a lodge meeting when the explosion came.

JURY DISAGREES IN CHAPLIN-LOEB CASE

NEW YORK, May 12.—The antics of Charlie Chaplin on the witness stand in his defense against a $50,000 plagiarism suit amused the spectators, but left 10 of the jurors cold, it appeared when the jury was discharged early today, unable to agree upon a verdict.

The 12 men were reported to stand 10 to 2 in favor of giving Leo Loeb, salesman, $50,000 for the alleged theft of his scenario, "The Rookie," which Loeb charged was the basic for Chaplin's favorite picture, "Shoulder Arms."

Nathan Burkan, Chaplin's counsel, moved for a dismissal of the case. The judge took the motion under advisement.

DEATH DELAYS D'AUTREMONT MURDER TRIAL

Juror Dies and Court Calls Postponement of Case Until September

(By United Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Ore., May 12.—Death had intervened to render useless the half million dollars spent by the government and Jackson county in capturing and prosecuting Hugh D'Autremont, alleged murderer.

S. W. Dunham, 63, juror, died late yesterday from infection of the gall bladder, ending the current trial of the 23-year-old youth who is accused of aiding his fugitive twin brothers, Ray and Roy, in dynamiting the Southern Pacific "Gold Special" in Siskiyou tunnel in October, 1923.

Judge C. M. Thomas called a special session of court, declared the case a mistrial and discharged the 11 remaining jurors.

The judge then announced that state and defense attorneys were to meet with him on June 25, to decide on a course of action.

"A man has every right to protect his home," Rogers said. "No officer has a right to search a house without a search warrant and I advise all persons to do just what Young did, if the same circumstances arise."

"Officers' badges are not their only identification, and if asked to an actual officer can prove his authority."

20,000 Expected At Bowl Program

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—More than 20,000 people, including many celebrities of the stage and screen world, will gather "under the stars" tonight, in the Hollywood Bowl, for the most pretentious benefit show ever staged in theatrical history.

D'Autremont seemed depressed by the sudden ending of the trial and he sighed when led back to the county jail where he will be confined until his new trial, which will be some time during the September term of court.

The affair is expected to be the largest gathering in the nation for the benefit of Mississippi flood sufferers and sponsors of the affair predict that approximately $40,000 will be raised by this single performance.

Douglas Fairbanks, president of a committee of 1000, issued a proclamation today calling upon the city to attend en masse and the capacity of the huge bowl, nestling in the hills of Hollywood, is expected to be taxed, when the curtain goes up.

Mississippi Flood Relief

Today's subscriptions to the Red Cross flood fund put the total for the southern part of Orange county beyond $8000, closely approaching six times the original quota of the local chapter.

The total does not include something more than $300 from the American Legion's flood fund dance.

The chapter includes Santa Ana, El Toro, San Juan Capistrano, Tustin, Laguna Beach, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Westminster, Talbert and other communities in the southern half of the county.

Attention was called to the fact today that no solicitation from house to house has been attempted by the local Red Cross. The response has been purely voluntary. A report indicated that there are some residents who desire to give to the fund but who have not done so because they have believed that someone would call at their homes for subscriptions.

"To anyone having that understanding," said T. E. Stephenson, chairman of the chapter, "I wish to say that we do not expect to do any house to house canvassing. Those who have been waiting for that should immediately mail their checks to the Red Cross at Santa Ana or leave their contributions at any of the places that have been designated."

Contributions up to today totaled $5,913.46. Listed today, bringing the total to $6,021.52, are contributions as follows:

Royal Neighbors of America, $6; Frances E. Willard junior high school, (not included in previous report from that school) $6.64; Mrs. Margaret A. Crookshank, $25; Friend, $6; Harry W. Lewis, $10; Girls' Friendly society of Church of Messiah, $6; Pythian Sisters Calanthe club, $10; Jack Tait, Balboa, $6; H. O. Egge, $6; Knights of Pythias, $11.42; Boy Scouts, Troop No. 30, $10; Green Spear farm, S. Nitta, $5; D. McKeith, $5.

Chester L. Young, Rancher, Uses Fists to Dispose Of Intruder

(By United Press)

WHAT is believed to have been a brazen attempt by a burglar, posing as a federal prohibition agent, to gain entrance, last night, into the home of Chester L. Young, 904 South Main street, prominent Santa Ana rancher, was frustrated when Young met the man at the door and knocked him out into the front yard.

Young today reported to Claude Rogers, city marshal, that at 8 o'clock last night he answered his doorbell and found a man on the porch. The man asked Young's name and then told him he was a federal officer and had come to search the house for liquor.

Asks For Papers

"Where are your papers?" Young asked the stranger.

"I don't need any papers," the man is said to have answered, as he pulled back his coat and displayed a badge, at the same time making a move to enter the house.

Then Young's fist shot out, catching the stranger on the chin. The alleged officer fell near a flower bed in the front yard.

Picking himself up, he shook his fist at Young and cried:

"I'll see you at 10 o'clock in the morning."

At this retort, Young said he started after the man, informing him that he could see him then, but the stranger jumped up and ran.

That the man expected to gain entrance into the house and then hold up the family was the belief of City Marshal Rogers, who congratulated Young on his action.

Rogers Issues Warning

At the same time, Rogers today issued a warning to residents of Santa Ana to allow no man, claiming to be an officer, to enter their homes without first showing the proper papers.

"A man has every right to protect his home," Rogers said. "No officer has a right to search a house without a search warrant and I advise all persons to do just what Young did, if the same circumstances arise."

"Officers' badges are not their only identification, and if asked to an actual officer can prove his authority."

LINDBERGH PLANE SEEN OVER COLUMBUS, OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—An airplane, believed to be that of Capt. Charles Lindbergh, flying from St. Louis to New York, preparatory to a transatlantic flight, passed over Columbus at 12:45 this afternoon.

BELLANCA PLANE MAY NOT LEAVE UNTIL SUNDAY

NEW YORK, May 12.—In view of threatening weather conditions here and the probable forecast the Bellanca plane Columbia probably will not take off before Sunday morning, Charles A. Levine, chairman of the board of the Columbia Aircraft corporation, said today.

That decision will not be made until the official weather forecast is given out at 3 o'clock this afternoon, he said.

Meanwhile, Lloyd Bertaud and Clarence D. Chamberlin, the pilots on the flight from New York to Paris, were ready to start on the first notice of favorable weather conditions.

The flight of Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, St. Louis air mail pilot, eastward toward New York will force the Bellanca plane to take off soon if its pilots are to be the first American flyers to attempt the Paris flight this year.

DIRIGIBLE UNABLE TO ASSIST IN SEARCH

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 12.—The navy dirigible Los Angeles, which had planned to search for Captains Nungesser and Coli during a training trip today along the Atlantic coast, was held in her hangar by unfavorable weather.

PROSPECTIVE OCEAN FLYERS ARE JUMPY

GARDEN CITY, Long Island, N. Y., May 12.—With one eye on weather reports and the other on activities of fellow flyers who will seek fame and fortune accruing from a successful New York to Paris flight, prospective transatlantic aviators were a nervous, jumpy lot today.

Although storms raged in the north Atlantic and men stationed in lonely meteorological outposts reported that visibility was poor, the word went out at Curtiss field that "something was doing" and rumors spread insistently that secret preparations for an epochal flight were under way.

The doors of the hangar where mechanics are grooming the Bellanca monoplane Columbia, in which Lloyd W. Bertaud and Clarence D. Chamberlin will essay the air voyage, were closed and information as to the secret activity was refused.

The report became insistent that the Columbia would take off at dusk tonight if more propitious weather reports were received. It was also thought that the America might fly this afternoon to Roosevelt field from Teterboro airport, Hasbrouck Heights, New Jersey.

Bertaud himself guardedly admitted the hope of starting "some time tonight."

An area of low pressure northwest of the Azores was reported by the weather bureau this afternoon, and Bertaud said the outlook for the Columbia's take-off was "discouraging." Decision will not be reached until further reports are obtainable at 11 p. m., Bertaud said.

College to Have 3 New Professors

FRESNO, May 12.—Three new professors will be on the faculty of Fresno State college next year, according to an announcement today by Dr. Frank W. Thomas, president-elect of the college. Dr. William M. Tucker, A. M. Bean, former professor of zoology at Cornell university, and J. W. Canfield, graduate of the University of California, are the new teachers.

Close James Cafe Under Attachment

Following the filing of an attachment suit against Mrs. B. E. Moore, proprietor of the James cafe, 104 East Fourth street, by W. H. James, former owner, for alleged non-payment of funds due on the place, the cafe was today under lock and key. Papers in connection with the suit have not been returned to the county clerk's office, officers said.

An automobile owned by C. W. Rowland, 336 West Nineteenth street, was stolen from a place where it was parked near Bush street on Seventh street yesterday, according to a report filed today at the sheriff's office.

Three men, charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, are in the Orange county jail awaiting a hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison, following their arrest yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Zabel and Elliott, on the Buena road, one mile north of Fifth street. The men are John J. Brucker, 22, Orange, route No. 8; Carl Miller, 26, farmer and cement worker, of Orange, and M. W. Bray, 1821 West Third street, Santa Ana.

Fall Is Fatal to Docks Watchman

SAN PEDRO, May 12.—John Lulkhart, 60, watchman at the Shell Oil company dock here, died today in Seaside hospital, Long Beach, of injuries received several hours earlier when he fell 25 feet.

Lulkhart, standing near a steamer's gangplank, apparently lost his footing and, falling, struck a piling. Seamen took the man from the water. He was rushed to the hospital but died without regaining consciousness.

COUNTY JAIL TO HOUSE PRISONERS

DENVER, Colo., May 12.—The Denver county jail will be the future abode of Pueblo federal prisoners because the Pueblo jail does not seem strong enough to hold them, according to George Stephan, United States district attorney.

Federal Attorney Stephan has asked the federal district court for an order transferring between 20 and 30 prisoners from the Pueblo county jail to the Denver bastille.

The order was granted when it was explained that two federal prisoners in the Pueblo jail had escaped within the last week. One of them, James Tracey, a narcotic suspect who was being held to await the action of the federal grand jury, put on his coat and walked out of jail while no one was looking, according to information received by local federal authorities.

Wilbur Haskell, who was serving a nine months sentence for violation of the prohibition law, was the other one to take "French leave." Some, according to information received by the local federal officials, smuggled a suit of clothing to Haskell. He donned the suit, broke the lock on his cell and walked out.

A special car probably will be required to move the prisoners from Pueblo to Denver. The movement will be supervised by Richard C. Callen, United States marshal.

AVOCADO GROVE REPORTED LOOTED

Between 500 and 1000 pounds of avocados, valued at from $250 to $500 have been stolen from the ranch of W. M. Popplewell, Orange route No. 1, during the past several days, according to a report filed today with the sheriff's office by the owner.

An investigation today by deputy sheriffs failed to reveal any trace of the thieves.

Officers are attempting to connect these robberies with those reported last week in the La Habra district, where it was said that $10,000 worth of fruit had been stolen during the past several months.

Divorce Granted Former Actress

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Another film colony romance lay shattered here today with the granting of a divorce to Virginia Brissac Wray, one-time favorite of the stage.

According to Mrs. Wray, her husband, John G. Wray, motion picture director, remained away from home for weeks at a time.

Counsel for Mrs. Wray said a property settlement, the terms of which were not disclosed, had been made out of court. The couple married June 29, 1925, and separated Nov. 18, 1926.

Native Sons' to Ballot Friday

SAN PEDRO, May 12.—Delegates to the fiftieth grand parlor convention of the Native Sons of the Golden West in session here today are enjoying a social program preparatory to the election.

The outstanding features today include a barbecue at Point Firmus park, flag presentation at San Pedro high school, and grand ball at Liberty auditorium tonight.

Tomorrow's balloting will find sharp contests for third vice president and the seven trusteeships.

DIVIDES FORTUNE

ALBANY, N. Y., May 12.—Miss Helen H. Betzinger's will provides that nine-tenths of her $300,000 estate shall be used for the erection of a mausoleum on her cemetery lot at Fort Plain, 20 feet square. The rest goes to a hospital, a church and an art museum.

possible, but highly improbable that night sessions will be held.

It was reported that the jury contemplated putting their protest in writing, asking that an effort be made to speed up the trial and if necessary night sessions be held.

Hints of "gin" and "jazz" barely touched by the prosecution at yesterday's session, were expected to be laid bare today, when the shambling negro woman with the Bostonian accent again takes the stand for cross-examination.

Fulfilling its earlier promise, the case assumed its first sensational proportions with the Lee woman on the stand. In the full rich tones of her race, she dramatically recounted each scene of the brutal and unequal battle, while the courtroom sat spellbound.

She told how Kelly beat his smaller opponent in the face again and again with his fist until the musical comedy "hoofers" features were a bruised and bloody mass of flesh.

Unable To Fight

How Raymond pleaded with the young screen player that he was unable to fight, that he had been drinking and had spent many hours on the road and how Kelly had replied by demanding that he fight anyway.

The "love motive," which the state contends caused theistic combat and sent Raymond to his death, was introduced into the records yesterday through the maid.

"How many times was Kelly at the Raymond house while Mr. Raymond was away?" she was asked.

"Every two or three days," the Lee woman replied.

With the possibility that cross-examination of the Lee woman may be completed before adjournment, Miss Mackay may reach the stand today.

Her appearance on the stand is expected to open the state's barrage, in which an attempt will be made to show that the actress and Kelly "partied" while her husband was away on theatrical tours.

Her attorneys reiterated that the actress would take the stand, although she is privileged to claim constitutional rights as a result of the felony indictment returned against her in connection with her husband's death.

Russ Trade Bureau Raided by Bobbies

LONDON, May 12.—Fifty police today raided Arcos House, which is the headquarters here of the Russian trade delegation. The police appeared suddenly in the late afternoon aboard a fleet of taxicabs. A guard was thrown about the building to prevent anyone entering or leaving. Even messenger boys with telegrams were prevented entering the raided premises. A large crowd watched the raid. Arcos House is in the center of the financial district.

They do not care what kind of President a man would make. All they care is what kind of candidate he would be, before election, and what kind of politician he would be, afterward. If the time comes, whether in 1928 or in 1932, when the people want Hoover, they will have to impose him, as they once did Roosevelt, on the politicians.

Business Better For Youth Than College, Claim

NEW YORK, May 12.—Fifty percent of the youth of the nation who plan to enter college this fall will do better if they go directly into business, says President William H. Faunce of Brown University.

Statistics for nearly half a century, Dr. Faunce asserts, indicate that most of the boys who go to college are failures, in the sense that they fall to graduate.

"These figures," he says, "do not include the uncounted thousands who, though they may have been graduated, have simply wasted four precious years and received no benefit commensurate with the time and money spent. There is no other career, for which men are so definitely prepared, in which there is such an appalling proportion of failures."

Dr. Faunce says that while a few of the older universities claim a 'misfit student' loss as low as 10 per cent, the percentage in many state universities runs as high as 60 per cent and more.

SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL

NEW YORK, May 12.—"Our rich would sell their national heritage in Shakespeare for 5 cents if they could get it," says a message from George Bernard Shaw expressing unspeakable humiliation at joining in an appeal for American aid for a memorial theater at Stratford-on-Avon.

FINANCES BRING PRINCESS SUAD BACK TO U. S. A.

KANSAS CITY, May 12.—The career of Sidi Wirt, progressing through three marriages from Kansas prairies to a royal home on the Bosphorus, is an epic of tangled emotions, notorious incidents and peculiarities. The first incident took place at the University of Kansas, in 1910, when she was 17 years old. Sidi, it developed, was "keeping company" with a Brazilian millionaire and noble, Hugo Leal.

Leal frequently visited her at the university and they were expected to marry in the spring of the next year. She had met him while a student at Valparaiso university in Indiana the year before and the young man's suit was looked upon with favor by her parents, who lived at Garden City. Her father was a well-to-do real estate man.

Came the spring and everything was ready for the wedding. Sidi, meanwhile, renewed acquaintance with Harry C. Williams, newspaper man of Hutchinson, Kan. He had been a sweetheart of her childhood and at the last moment they decided to marry. Rumor has it that the decision—whether to marry Williams for love, or Leal for position—was given to Sidi by the flip of a coin. It was all very hurried, Miss Wirt and Williams taking the marriage vows in a motor car speeding them away from their parents and a forsaken Brazilian.

Mrs. Sidi Wirt Williams kept right on speeding through married life, so fast in fact that she and her husband separated in a few weeks and obtained a divorce shortly thereafter. Sidi Wirt once more, the former Mrs. Williams departed for the west, singing and dancing her way in cafes. In San Francisco she met John D. Spreckels Jr., while she was employed in a cabaret. Spreckels was the son of the millionaire California man who died not long ago leaving a fortune amassed in sugar, railroads and other enterprises. Young "Jack" Spreckels then was being sued for divorce by his first wife, a niece of Collis P. Huntington, rail magnate, and when the decree had been granted married Sidi Wirt. That was in 1915.

Four years later divorce rumors were circulated concerning the J. D. Spreckels Jr. Mrs. Spreckels had gone to New York and then to Europe. They indignantly denied the reports and then misfortune came to Sidi. She accused Capt. William Barrett of Philadelphia of having made off with a pearl necklace valued at $80,000, belonging to her. Subsequently it developed the necklace had been purchased from Tiffany's in London by Mrs. Spreckels, who gave as reference the name of her California husband. Her story was that after buying the pearls she entrusted them to Captain Barrett to be insured and that he disappeared. Tiffany's brought suit for the money for the jewels, and Barrett, later arrested in Los Angeles, said that Mrs. Spreckels had given them to him to pawn. He was released for lack of evidence.

After that affair, Mrs. Spreckels came back to the United States and established a residence at Reno, as "Mrs. Smith," to obtain a divorce. This suit was pending when Spreckels was killed in a motor car accident. A settlement was made by the senior Spreckels and an allowance provided for the daughter, who had been born in 1916. Mrs. Sidi Wirt Williams Spreckels, a widow, went back to Paris and met Prince Suad there. They were married in July 1923 at the prince's summer home on the island of Prinkipo near Constantinople.

The limelight did not desert the Kansas girl in Turkey, for within two years she became involved in an incident that excited the whole country. Princess Chevikiar of Egypt, former wife of King Fuad, charged Sidi with stealing her husband, Selim Bey. Selim Bey, she alleged, had been out sailing on the moonlit waters of the Bosphorus with the American woman. And that charge, if proved, constituted grounds for divorce in Turkey.

Princess Suad then added zest to the affair by filing a counter charge against the Egyptian, charging assault among other things. Princess Chevikiar, Sidi had, attacked her at the docks and incited Turkish soldiers to threaten her. Furthermore, she was not alone, her association with Selim Bey having been confined to taking him, with other men, out to her husband's yacht. All this was spicy news for Turkey and lasted until last fall, when Princess Chevikiar was fined for the tray at the dock, thus vindicating Princess Suad.

About a year ago, John D. Spreckels Sr. died leaving a good part of his vast fortune to the four children of "Jack" Spreckels: three by his first wife, and the fourth, Sidi's daughter. So the Kansas-born princess is coming "back home" to settle the financial affairs of her child.

DAIRY OWNER IS WINNER IN COURT BATTLE

The first of three scheduled court battles between Charles F. Hell, of Santa Ana, and the family of his former ranch foreman, John Janema, resulted in a victory for Hell when Superior Judge H. G. Ames late yesterday denied Janema's petition for an injunction, to prevent Hell from ousting Janema from the Hell dairy ranch, five miles south of Santa Ana.

Two other actions, one being a demand by Janema for an accounting of profits from an alleged partnership with Hell, and the other being a suit for $3000 damages brought against Hell by Mrs. Janema, who charges she was assaulted in an attempt to remove the Janema family from the dairy ranch house, are still pending.

In the case just decided, Janema failed to convince the court that a partnership existed between himself and Hell, as he claimed. Janema contended that he had an oral agreement with Hell early this year, by which he was to manage the ranch at a stipulated monthly salary and 10 per cent of the profits. The agreement covered the entire year, he asserted.

Janema objected when Hell placed his son, Wendell Hell, in charge of the ranch, on April 1. The Janema family refused to quit the dwelling on the ranch and resisted all efforts to oust them. He contended that he was entitled to his salary and his share of the profits from the ranch for the remainder of the year, as well as the right to occupy the dwelling.

Attorneys Sharpless Walker and James L. Davis represented Janema in the injunction case, Attorneys F. C. Drumm and M. B. Wellington appearing for Hell.

Betrothal Is Revealed
By Small Niece of Bride-elect

Hearts were played last night at a delightful party given by Miss Virginia Craig of this city, and Miss Bertha E. Peterkin of Orange, as a compliment to the honor guest, Miss Grace M. Eddy who has lately been concerned with a little private game of hearts of her very own, in which George B. Summer, of Los Angeles, secured the prize—herself.

The party was given at the home of Miss Craig, 501 East Washington avenue, and had as its incentive, the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Eddy and Mr. Summer. The guests were made aware of the happy news before the game of the evening began, for suddenly the strains of the Wedding March were heard, and at the signal, the most adorable bride those present had ever seen entered the room. She was well Dora Bell, two-and-a-half years old, the little daughter of Mrs. H. A. Bell, and niece of Miss Eddy. She wore the traditional bridal white with flowing veil, and carried a basket of exquisite French bouquets.

These were distributed among the guests, and in the heart of each one was a small card announcing the engagement of Miss Eddy and Mr. Summer. To the bride-elect herself, the small maiden presented a satin pillow to which a beautiful engagement ring was tied with white ribbons.

In the game of hearts which followed the announcement, Miss Virginia Ellis took honors and received an attractive gift while consolation prize was awarded Miss Hazel Carr. Tables were then arranged with pretty linens and centered with pink roses to conform to the pink and green decorations of the home. French pastries, pink and green mints and coffee were served.

Enjoying the hospitality of Miss Craig and Miss Peterkin in addition to their honor guest, Miss Eddy, were Mrs. L. Summer, Miss Alice Summer and Mrs. Paul Fritchton, Los Angeles; Mrs. A. J. Duncan, Pasadena; Mrs. Fred Eddy, Mrs. H. A. Bell, Mrs. A. E. Wallace, Mrs. V. E. Sudrock, Mrs. Frances Sorenson, Mrs. Bebe K. Mathis, Mrs. G. Harris, Mrs. Norman Mackel, Mrs. R. Godwin, Mrs. William G. Chandler, Mrs. A. G. Edwards, Mrs. John Vilella, the Misses Evelyn Chafe, Leta Hayes, Ivy Eddy, Dorothy Eddy, Dorothy Nordin, Ruth Parker, Leta Parker, Elizabeth Muller, Virginia Ellis, Hazel Carr, Elsie Goddickson, Elsie Wenzel, Ethel Saffern and Ruth Oakes.

Harbor Yacht Club
Will Open Season
Saturday

Opening its tenth season, the Newport Harbor Yacht club will celebrate with a "birthday party" on Saturday, May 14, when a program of exciting and interesting events will be presented at the clubhouse.

Festivities will begin with the inspection of yachts at 10 o'clock a. m., the inspection continuing until 2 o'clock, and from 2 to 4, visiting yachts will be the program.

The big anniversary banquet will be featured at 6:30 o'clock and reservations for this must be made at once either by telephoning or writing F. H. Shackleford, box 89, Balboa, or telephone Newport Beach 7.

The banquet will be followed by the presentation of inspection trophies, this feature being scheduled for 7:30 o'clock and to be followed in turn by the birthday ball. Johnny Mitchell's famed "Ebony Idols" have been secured to provide music for the dance, and all Yacht club members know what that means.

This outline of the day's activities, offers but a glimpse of the picnic, which promises to be an event, such pleasures for instance, as the opportunity to see "Miss California," the club's representative in the recent February races in Florida, which entered eleven heats and came in first in each.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Messiah will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Robert Horn, 2421 French street. Those who are not familiar with the location of the Horn home are informed that by taking the Orange car and getting off at Edgewood road, they may reach French street by going directly east.

The "Hoodoo" Junior Dance scheduled for tomorrow night at Santa Ana Country club, has been postponed on account of the high school dance which would call many of the Country club young people away from the "Hoodoo" affair. No definite date has yet been set for it, but will be announced later.

The Estella Daniel Missionary society will have an open meeting in the First Presbyterian church auditorium this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Mabel Lee, who has recently returned to this country from Nanking, China, where she was one of the last missionaries who escaped when that city was evacuated by all westerners, will be present and tell the story of her experiences during that last day when she and many other Americans were in hiding before they were able to reach the gunboat on the Yangtze river. She will tell how Chinese friends and neighbors were instrumental in saving her life as well as the lives of other missionaries. As so many are interested in China today, the society has extended an invitation to all who would like to attend this meeting.

The First Methodist Episcopal Church, under the auspices of the church school will picnic at Orange county park, Saturday, May 14. Leo Myers has charge of transportation, and cars will be at the church from 8 till 11 a. m. Herbert Froy is in charge of the sports program.

Community Play Star
Is Complimented
By Parents

A pleasant surprise awaited Mrs. Maurice Enderle (Harriet Virginia Craig) of this city, and Miss Bertha E. Peterkin of Orange, as a compliment to the honor guest, Miss Grace M. Eddy who has lately been concerned with a little private game of hearts of her very own, in which George B. Summer, of Los Angeles, secured the prize—herself.

For Mrs. Enderle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Owens, and her sister, Miss Kathleen Owens, had asked the members of the cast to their home, 126 Owens Drive, for an after-theater supper as a surprise compliment to the lovely "Moonyeens."

Mr. and Mrs. Enderle had left their small son in his grandparents' home for the evening, and stopped to get him to return to their own pretty suburban home on Yorba street. Entering the house, Mrs. Enderle was amazed to find the members of the cast to whom she had called goodnight such a few minutes before at the theater.

Some were still in costume, so the effect was gay and brilliant. All conversation centered on the dreaded "first night" and the splendid manner in which the play had gone over.

In the dining-room, a long table was gay with pink roses and flaring pink tapers, in readiness for serving a buffet supper which included a variety of sandwiches with other appetizing dishes, rich chocolate and amber coffee, and finally, five great cakes, each differing from its delectable fellows, no only in kind, but in the ornamental icing.

Serving was accomplished through the aid of the Misses Mary Jane and Clara Kate Owens, Miss Kathleen Owens, Mrs. Francis J. Cox (Roberta Owens), Dr. H. J. Howard and Mr. Cox.

Members of the cast and their husbands and wives or friends who were bidden to enjoy the informal affair, were Mr. and Mrs. Enderle, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fletcher, Miss Elaine Wharton, Miss Elizabeth Archer, Miss Mildred Whiteman, Miss Mabel Pruitt, Miss Helen McPeak, Messrs. George Gervin, director; Val Clark, Charles Haas, Robert Quall, Emil Foust, Harold Flish, Henry Williams, Ernest Crozier Phillips, former director, and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willits, Lynn Crawford, Community Players' president, and Mrs. Crawford.

TWO SANTA ANA MUSICIANS WIN FIRST HONORS IN L. A.

Georgia Bell Walton and Everard Stovall Are Eisteddfod Winners

Miss Georgia Bell Walton, talented young violinist, and Everard Stovall, 13, pianist, won first places in their respective divisions at the Eisteddfod contest held yesterday in Chickering hall, Los Angeles.

Miss Walton, daughter of Mrs. Artie Walton of 729 West Third street, is a pupil of Elwood Bear with whom she has been studying for four years. She played in the advanced violin section, giving as her selection one of Mozart's concertos.

Everard Stovall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stovall of 513 West Seventeenth street, has received all of his music instruction from Earl Fraser with whom he has made such rapid advancement that he was capable of playing in the advanced section of the piano and winning when all other contestants were at least six years older than he. His numbers included "Rhapsody in G Minor" by Brahms, and "Gavotte in D Minor" by Bach-Saint-Saens.

An interesting feature in the judging of the contestants was that the judges were unable to see the performers, thus having to depend entirely on the ear in judging the musicians.

Judges of the violin section were Charles E. Pemberton, Mrs. Bessie Suhr Erb and Sol Cohen while Abby De Ovrett, Sol Cohen and Edith Lillian Clark judged the piano.

Various sections of the Eisteddfod contest will not hold their final competition until May 27. Four of Elwood Bear's pupils, Emanuela Richards, Simon Plas, Helen Tanenbaum, and Audrey Granas, will compete in various sections of the violin contests.

Another pupil of Earl Fraser, Beatrice Granas, won in her section of the piano competition, the finals for which were held several days ago.

Golf Is Favorite
Hawaiian Sport

HONOLULU, May 12.—Golf is the favorite sport of Hawaii's tourist visitors, according to William P. Simmons, director of recreation of the Territorial Hotel company. Next to golf, deep sea fishing has a goodly crowd of followers. After deep sea fishing comes surfing by canoe or surfboard, then Hawaiian luau (feasts) and hula (dances); after that, horseback riding, hiking, trips to the oriental sections of Honolulu.

The drive launched by police against the overtime parking continued today. Twelve persons were arrested yesterday, keeping up the daily average of the past two weeks.

In police court yesterday, seven motorists were fined $2 each for parking longer than two hours in the business district. They were: Home Oil company, K. M. Taylor, H. R. Frank, Mrs. Anna Anderson, A. L. Johnson, F. D. Drake and K. E. Horton.

M. R. Muskin, Santa Ana, was fined $2 on a charge of parking his machine on the street between the hours of 2 a. m. and 5 a. m., in violation of a city ordinance.

Four persons were fined in Judge J. F. Talbott's court yesterday for speeding. They were: O. N. Killingsback, speeding motorcycle, $25; G. Martinez, speeding, $10; Clyde McWhorter, speeding motorcycle, $15, and Victor Schorie, $10.

TRAVEL IS SAFER THAN HOME, CLAIM

DENVER, Colo., May 12.—It is safer by far to travel than to stay at home!

For this startling statement, insurance companies offer statistical proof in a report cited by the Pullman company in its annual safety campaign being carried on this month.

Of all the accidents in the United States during 1925, 26 per cent were suffered at home and only 6 per cent were incurred in railroad travel, speaking highly for the efficacy of the safety campaigns of this great utility.

"Think safety, talk safety and act safety," is the slogan adopted and urged upon patrons and employees during the month of the campaign. This resulted in a reduction of accidents by 86 per cent the inaugural year of the campaign, and now the zero mark has been almost reached.

Flappers Scanty
Garb Is Healty;
Sun Cures Ills

WASHINGTON, May 12.—If the girl in the rhyme followed her mother's injunction to hang her clothes on a hickory limb but not go near the water, she profited thereby, some scientists aver.

While the hampering clothes adorned the hickory, the ultra violet sun rays were storing health in the girl's body, members of the American Geophysical union have ascertained after hearing Prof. W. J. Humphreys of the weather bureau, expounded his findings.

By the same token, Professor Humphreys maintained, in defense of the scantily-clad flapper the sunlit modern girl must be more healthful than her over-stuffed sister of the old days.

But what is health for the girl is tough on her cosmetics, it was revealed by Prof. C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau. He said cosmetic makers in their search for an artificial maiden's blush that will be an asset after as it was before an ocean dip, have appealed to him for information how the color-fading violet rays can be turned away by a tinted cheek.

Nurserymen Ask
Co-operation In Exhibit at Fair

With appointment of a committee to take charge of the floral exhibit at the Orange county fair in September, officers of the Orange County Nurserymen's association today made an appeal to florists of the county to co-operate in making the exhibit one of the most beautiful displays ever made at the annual fair.

The committee was named at a meeting of the association held last night at the display room at the Highway Bulb Gardens, near Anaheim. Members appointed were E. F. Whiting and Arthur Blanding, Santa Ana, and T. D. Robertson, Fullerton. Persons having flowers and interested in making contributions to the exhibit, are urged to get in touch with the committee. The fair management is offering attractive prizes for the exhibit.

Discussions at the meeting, presided over by President Ray Adkinson, Santa Ana, revealed that in point of value stocks of Orange county nurserymen are second in the ten southern counties.

LARGE CROWD
SEES PLAYERS
SECOND NIGHT

With such favorable opinions as were expressed both Tuesday and last night by audiences at "Smilin' Through," Santa Ana Community Players production now running at the Temple theater, it was anticipated that the two remaining performances tonight and tomorrow night, would necessitate brushing the dust off of the S. R. O. sign.

For the opening performance attracted the largest first-night audience of the Players' season, and the patrons' enjoyment of the play communicated itself to others until last night's was a full house.

"Ordinary arithmetical progression would seem to call for the S. R. O. sign," today declared George Gorwitz, director of the Players.

Opinions have been freely expressed that "Smilin' Through" is one of the outstanding performances in Community Players' history and has climaxed a season beginning with such a marked success as "Enter Madame." Among these opinions was that of Clarence Gustlin, prominent pianist of the city, who today stated that he had enjoyed the production more than any entertainment he had seen for many moons, and felt that those taking part were unusually smooth and finished in their roles.

Seats for tonight and tomorrow night's concluding performance are on sale at the Santa Ana book-store.

Vintage of 1904
May Cause Hunt
In Denver Pool

DENVER, May 12.—If persistent pleas to the Denver water board are answered, and the Lake Cheesman reservoir is thrown open to the public, the biggest treasure hunt in the history of Colorado will be on immediately, because

There is a barrel of good beer in Lake Cheesman!

This barrel was lost out of the tall end of a contractor's wagon in 1904, when the dam was being built. It rolled into the lake and efforts to get it proved futile. The spot was marked, however, and a veteran water board employee, who saw the barrel go gurgling down, knows right where it rests, in fifty feet of water, just off the point where Mrs. Cheesman's summer cottage now stands.

Since the barrel was sealed and the beer was in bottles, anyway, it is supposed to be in a perfect state of preservation and with all its ancient kick!

Anxious Denver treasure hunters would like to get that barrel but strangers aren't allowed on the reservoir site. Hence the plea to the water board to throw open the lake for just a few days so that interested individuals and organizations can go 'after the barrel.'

Wanton destruction of wild flowers and plants is now a penal offense in New South Wales.

Makes every coffee cent count—because of its concentrated flavor

The economy of M-J-B is merely a lesson in simple arithmetic. Here it is—

M-J-B is a concentrated coffee. That means it is extra-rich in strength and flavor. We blend it that way—always have. And that's why you can use less of M-J-B to the cup and still enjoy a fine, flavor-rich cup of coffee.

Now consider that the average family uses 40 cups of coffee per week and you begin to realize how M-J-B makes every coffee cent count. You get more in the way of coffee content and it costs you less in the long run. Isn't that, after all, the only kind of economy that counts?

CHAMBER DIRECTORS LAUNCH PROGRAM TO MAKE SANTA ANA PROMINENT AS MUSIC CENTER

To make Santa Ana known throughout the world as a "City of Music" will be the aim of a program launched at a meeting of the directors of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today. The step was taken immediately following a report on the success of the National Music Week in Santa Ana the first of May.

Appointment of a special music committee to be in charge of the musical program each year was the first step taken toward bringing recognition to Santa Ana's music. Harry L. Hanson was appointed chairman of the committee. J. A. Cranston, Bruce Switzer, Harry Hanson and Clyde Downing gave reports on the results of the National Music Week programs in Santa Ana, and it was from these reports that the idea to make Santa Ana famous for music was conceived.

Plans for the music program to be staged next year during National Music week will be tentatively outlined by Hanson in the near future. Hanson plans to base the program around three prominent young Santa Ana musicians who are now gaining popularity throughout the country, Everard Stovall, pianist; Georgia Bell Walton, violinist, and Robert Bradford, vocalist. Other well known musicians in Santa Ana, including Clarence Gustlin, D. C. Clanton, and Madame Manuel Budrow will be asked to assist the chamber of commerce in staging the program.

The report on this year's national music week showed that the Santa Ana high school auditorium was crowded to capacity almost every night during the week. Need of a civic auditorium in Santa Ana was stressed by Clyde Downing, president of the chamber.

It was also brought out in the report that the results of national music week in Santa Ana were so successful that they were carried over the nation in newspaper and magazine articles, and brought much favorable publicity to Santa Ana.

The plans approved by the chamber directors today will provide for an advertising campaign which will carry the word of Santa Ana's musical programs around the world.

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, highly commended the work of the chamber committee this year in staging musical programs. He especially called attention to the work in the schools during the week.

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Saturday's L. A. A. C. U. S. C. track meet at the coliseum here looms as the acid test for the Trojan aggregation prior to their participation in the I. C. 4-A meet at Philadelphia in two weeks hence.

Coach Dean Cromwell's Trojan crew will be pitted against several former coast collegiate stars including Bob Maxwell, Hugh Pinney, Murray Schultz, Church Eaton, Bill Cook and others.

The 440-yard dash will find Sauer, Lewis, Wallace and Smith competing for U. S. C. against Buchman of the Marauders.

QUIETS WOMEN

WASHINGTON, May 12.—"Only gosses, not women" After this ruling by Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president-general, an ebullition at a meeting of the D. A. R. subsided.

BANDITS HOLD UP, KIDNAP AND ROB S. A. MAN

P. C. Badillo, janitor at the Moyer hotel, Third and Spurgeon streets, was kidnaped, badly beaten up and robbed of $25 in cash by two unnamed bandits, who held him up on West Fourth street between Van Ness and Parton streets, last night, according to a report made today to Claude Rogers, chief of police.

The robbery and the beating administered to Badillo took place in an orange grove near Garden Grove, after which the bandits drove their victim to Los Angeles, leaving him at Ninth street and Boyle avenue, he reported.

The bandits then forced him into his car and, pushing what he thought was a revolver against his ribs, drove away with him. Near Garden Grove they stopped the car, pushed Badillo out, beat him up, and robbed him of $25 in cash.

After the robbery the car was turned toward Los Angeles, where the men left him. He returned to Santa Ana and reported the kidnapping.

Badillo told officers that he thought he had seen one of the men in Santa Ana before. He described one as being about 28 years old, and five feet, one inch in height and the other as being 25 years old, and about five feet, three inches in height. Both wore dark suits and light caps, he reported.

Police are making an investigation.

Students Take to Horse and Buggy, Skates and Bikes

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 12.—Forty miles west of the automobile capital of the world, roller skates, the horse-drawn buggy and tandem bicycles have come back into their own after a quarter century of inactivity.

The "new" triplicate fad is the answer of the students of University of Michigan to the threat of the faculty to abolish the right of undergraduates to operate automobiles.

"Thanks for the buggy ride" is no idle phrase in Ann Arbor this spring; "May I borrow your key" doesn't necessarily involve the elusive aperture in one's front door at 2:30 a. m.; while "air" at filling stations doesn't all go into automobile tires.

Rapidity with which these commoner modes of travel came into vogue on U. of M. campus and in Ann Arbor streets proved as much of a surprise to the students who adopted them as they did a relief to faculty.

It all began in a student protest, but soon nearly every able bodied student, including the co-eds, enlisted in the movement until hardware stores are now doing a boom trade in roller skates, bicycle shops are sprucing up and livery stables are polishing up their rigs and harnesses.

Original relief of the faculty at the "soundness of student ways," however, ultimately turned to despair when the concrete walks and streets which course through the campus proved so attractive that scores of undergraduates roared to and fro even into the wee small hours.

President Clarence Cook Little, whose threat to ban the automobile was the cause of it all, admitted that his slumbers were frequently interrupted, but thus far no edict has been issued against the new modes of travel.

The fads have spread to all branches of the university, so that otherwise dignified students of law roll to their Blackstonian studies, park their skates in the hall and on release roll back to their quarters.

While the bicycle is the least popular of the three, the horse and buggy have taken second place to roller skates. Sunny spring afternoons this year are witnessing undergraduate couples and quartets smillingly guiding a clattering mare hitched to a weaving, swaying buggy.

Treated Sewage To Be Tried As Ranch Fertilizer

Followed with much interest in Orange county agricultural circles, particularly among walnut, citrus and bean growers, is an experiment conducted by H. Clay Kellogg, 1133 South Flower street, in using chemically treated sewage, converted into fertilizer, on his ranch north of Garden Grove.

A permit to transport a 5-ton load of fertilizing matter from Pasadena to Orange county, has been granted by the state board of health and by the health departments of Los Angeles and Orange counties, inquiries revealed.

According to those familiar with the plan, this new kind of fertilizer lends itself particularly well to lands which have been drained in an effort to remove alkali.

U. S. WILL PURCHASE 23,000 HEADSTONES

DENVER, Colo., May 12.—The war department has asked Colorado marble producers to bid on 23,000 headstones, to be used on the graves of Civil, Spanish and World war veterans in all parts of the United States. This order will require about 50 carloads of marble and will be in amount approximately $300,000.

The headstones are to be of white marble such as is produced by only one Colorado firm—the Colorado Yule Marble company. This company has a quarry at Marble, Colo., near Carbondale.

"The specifications can very easily be met by Colorado marble," said Charles J. Hotchkiss, secretary of the manufacturers bureau of the Denver chamber of commerce.

"We know that on the basis of quality, Colorado can secure the

SCHEDULE FOR SCHOOL TERMS SENT TRUSTEES

A proposed school calendar for the various schools in the county for the school year 1927-28 was mailed out today to all school trustees by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, with a request that if approved, the teachers' contracts be drawn accordingly.

According to this schedule, schools will open on September 12. As a result of recent legislation, Armistice Day, November 11, will hereafter be observed as a legal holiday in all California schools.

Thursday, November 24, will be observed as Thanksgiving Day, and the following day, Friday, November 25, has been added to the Thanksgiving vacation.

Christmas vacation has been set from December 19 to January 3. April 2 to 6, are the dates of the spring vacation. May 30 will be observed as Memorial day. Schools will close on June 8.

ONE WOMAN WAS SICK FOUR YEARS

Another Too Sick To Work

Both Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MRS. ADOLPH HANSEN
HOLMQVIST, SOUTH DAKOTA

Holmqvist, South Dakota.—"I can not begin to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was sick for about four years. I could not sleep, and I was always feeling so weak and tired all the time I could not work more than two hours each day, then had to go to bed for the rest of the day. I read so much about the Vegetable Compound and I was so weak that I decided to try it. I now do my own housework—washing, scrubbing, and ironing—and then help my husband with his garden. I do not have that worn-out feeling now. I advise every woman to give your wonderful medicine a trial, and I will answer any letters I receive from women asking about it."—Mrs. S. M. LAY, 700 Jamacha Road, Encanto, Calif.

At the second bottle I began to feel better and I have used the Vegetable Compound ever since, whenever I feel badly. I recommend it and I will answer any letters asking about it."—Mrs. ADOLPH HANSEN, Holmqvist, South Dakota.

649,000 Farmers Desert Ranches During One Year

WASHINGTON, May 12.—A decrease of 649,000 persons in the farm population of the United States during the last year, the largest decrease in any year since 1920, has been announced by the department of agriculture.

The department estimated that 27,892,000 persons were living on farms on Jan. 1, 1927, as compared with 28,451,000 on Jan. 1, 1926 and 28,982,000 in 1925, as shown by the federal agricultural census of that year.

The movement of population from farms to cities was estimated at 2,155,000 persons for last year, while 1,135,000 moved to farms, making a net movement of 1,020,000 persons away from the farms.

Births on farms during the year were estimated at 658,000 and deaths at 237,000 leaving a natural increase of 371,000 which reduced the loss due to the cityward movement to 449,000.

All geographic sections showed net decreases in farm population. In New England the net loss was 15,000; in the middle Atlantic states, 40,000; in the east north central states, 102,000; in the west north central states, 97,000; in the south Atlantic states, 138,000; in the east south central states, 77,000; in the west south central states, 142,000; in the mountain states, 24,000; and in the Pacific states, 14,000.

Provide Eggs for Monkeys to Steal

ODESSA, May 12.—A shipment of 14 chimpanzees has arrived from Africa and will be established on the Soviet government's "monkey farm" at Suchum, in the Caucasus. The commissary of health is opening the monkey colony to breed a supply of animals for transplanting monkey glands to rejuvinating people.

Professor Ivanoff of the Lenin-grad Institute of Medicine accompanied the chimpanzees. He returned from a year's study and experiment in Central Africa, where he made scientific tests of cross-bred monkeys with other animals.

The "monkey farm" is in tropical Russia and has been prepared to make the chimpanzees feel at home. Even a flock of hens has been provided, to lay eggs which the chimpanzees can steal and suck as they do in the jungles of Africa.

DEMSEY HURT CHOPPING WOOD

SOPER'S RANCH, Calif., May 12.—Jack Dempsey today is hesitant about attempting to duplicate the reported feats of Paolino Uz-cudun, as they nearly cost him an eye yesterday.

The Manassa mauler engaged in wood chopping as part of his training camp grind, struck a log in such a way that a small chip was imbedded in his eye.

"Jerry the Greek" Luvadis and Gus Wilson attempted to remove the particle, but were unsuccessful.

The former heavyweight champion was driven to Oxnard where two physicians performed a delicate operation to save the eye.

After his return here Dempsey stated that he was feeling all right, and that he did not expect to be delayed in his workouts by the accident.

German Appetites Pleased by Candy

BERLIN, May 12—Germany is a "sweet" nation. The consumption of sugar has steadily increased since the war. Even with large areas having been taken from Germany under the Versailles Treaty the consumption of sugar is larger now than it was before the war.

As an average, every German consumes 41 German pounds of sugar a year against 35 pounds before the war. This increase is due to the growing appetite for sweets and candy in Germany. The German revenues from taxes on sugar have been mortgaged under the Dawes plan.

FIRST PILING PLACED FOR WEST JETTY AT NEWPORT

Hauser Company Starts
Operations at Harbor
With Crew of 16 Men

LACING OF ROCK BEGINS IN 6 WEEKS

Lee Weber Expects to Inaugurate Work Soon;
Ceremonies Projected

Actual work on the west jetty at the entrance to Newport harbor was instituted today, when the Hauser Construction company, of Long Beach, the successful bidders on the job, placed their first pile in the sand near the jetty. The work, being conducted under the direction of "Hardrock" Bill Arndt, superintendent of the company, and Ralph Redeker, local superintendent, will continue for six weeks, after which time a larger crew will be put on the job and the rock for the jetty will begin arriving. At present a crew of 10 men are employed on the pile driver and six men are handling materials.

Although the first pile was potted today on the 3000-foot stretch, tomorrow will be the first day in which the driver will work to capacity. Sixteen piling will be put on each day. The piling will be placed in bunches of four each and 5 feet apart.

When the rock comes, a crew of 10 men, averaging a payroll of $40 per day, will be employed. According to the superintendents, the men will be recruited as far as possible from Newport residents, materials which can be procured at the Newport Beach will be purchased there, it was stated.

The Hauser company plans to complete its work by October, it is said. The construction of the east jetty by the Lee R. Weber, Newport contractor, will not start for several weeks.

The Hauser company will dump 60,000 tons of rock in the jetty. The work will start with the same number of men doing the same amount of work as will be performed on the final day of the job, according to officials of the company. Cliting as an instance of the ability of the company to complete the work in first class shape and in record time, the officials of the company point to the $2,000,000 harbor job at Long Beach which is being completed three months ahead of schedule, and in a satisfactory manner.

Appropriate ceremonies are being planned by the business interests of the city for the day when the first load of rock is dumped. It will be dumped along the beach adjoining the jetty, in order to prevent the waves from washing behind the site, according to present plans.

State Realtors Leading Country, Report Indicates

The roster of the National Association of Real Estate boards shows California, according to Harry B. Allen, president of the California Real Estate Association, to hold the undisputed position of first place, as follows: California has the largest number of active boards, the largest number of realtors, the largest combined total of realtors and associate members, who are property owners, etc., and the largest membership of salesmen.

The National association's roster shows a decrease of about 1000 realtors for the year. The state of Florida, which was credited with nearly 4000 realtors in the roster a year ago, now has a realtor list of 1467.

SCIENCE WINNING WAR ON LEPROSY

MANILA, May 12—Leprosy, dread disease that is old as the history of man, is yielding to medical science in the Philippine Islands and may be wiped out within a few years.

The great colony at Culion, 200 miles south of Manila, has seen 1000 cases actually cured within the last five years. These cures have resulted from the progress in administering chaulmoogra oil. Many other cases are being held dormant, according to physicians' reports.

Several toasts are to be given by the Forum club members. Hubert Prior will tell of the "Origin of the Funny Bone," Miss Marjorie Adams is to talk on "The Disadvantages of Being a Grouch." The concluding toast by Miss Esther Jacobson will be on "Smiles."

BANKERS, TITLE MEN GUESTS OF BOARD FRIDAY

Bankers and title men of the city will be special guests at the meeting tomorrow of the Santa Ana Realty board. It was announced today by H. N. Allman, who is to be program chairman.

Allman has arranged through J. K. Hermon, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Pacific-Southern bank, to have W. M. Crandall, escrow officer with the bank in Los Angeles, as the principal speaker on the program.

Uniform appraisals will be the topic of discussion. Acting on recommendations of Stephen Barron, state real estate commissioner, realtors of the state are continuing preparations for making the services of appraisal committees of real estate boards available to the general public.

The plan is meeting with approval of realtors and the public and committees composed of experts on real estate values are being used in appraisals on property involved in court actions and banks in some sections are using the services.

MOVIES SHOW DEPTH

Moving pictures that show depth as well as height and breadth have appeared in Germany. The invention by two Germans does away with celluloid film, a copper band taking its place. On it the pictures are taken and developed in such a manner that a true perspective view of the scene is shown. The mechanical operation of the projecting apparatus is as at present, but as the copper strip is not transparent, the image is reflected to the screen.

Medical men declare that with sufficient money to permit intensive scientific improvement of the treatment, the complete eradication of the disease will be made possible within 10 or 12 years.

START OIL SCHOOL

TULSA, May 12—The "University of Oil," recently established here, is the result of an attempt by the board of education to aid oil company employees in their work. There are 104 students enrolled this year for the course of lectures which deal with history, geology, transportation, organization and the legal aspects of the "black gold" industry.

WOMAN COP WINS RACE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 12—Two thieves, a man and a woman, entered a Minneapolis department store. Discovered while shoplifting, they fled, the woman pursued by a patrolman, the man by a woman detective for the store. The woman detective overhauled her quarry, arrested him. His woman accomplice out-distanced the policeman.

H. B. OIL PLANT IN OPERATION SOON

Since the announcement a few weeks ago of the Crudo! Cleaning company's plans to take care of low gravity oil in the Huntington Beach field, the work has progressed rapidly, under the direction of Fred L. Bronson, superintendent.

The first unit of the proposed 20 miles of pipe line is being installed. Several tanks have already been erected at Huntington and Park street, and a stucco office building is nearing completion.

According to reports, it is the intention of the company to make the plant a beauty spot.

Several contracts have already been signed, and the company will be ready to carry on the work of cleaning the oil just as soon as the facilities are installed. It is said that the company has a foreign market for oil of low gravity.

The plan is meeting with approval of realtors and the public and committees composed of experts on real estate values are being used in appraisals on property involved in court actions and banks in some sections are using the services.

HALF MILLION EXPENDED ON OLINDA WELL

It cost the Chancellor-Cantfield Midway Oil company a half million dollars to drill the world's deepest oil well at Olinda, it was learned today.

Drilling started in August, 1924, in the hope of discovering a high gravity oil strata found in the nearby locality, halted at a depth of 8120 feet.

Geologists advanced the opinion that an earthquake may have shifted the strata.

Heat in the well was so intense that batteries of a photographic machine were incapacitated when lowered to a depth of 6948 feet to obtain pictorial records of soil formations.

Alexander Anderson of Fuller, inventor of the photographing device estimated the temperature at that depth to have been approximately 212 degrees. With improved insulation in his machine he intends to survey the well at a depth of 8000 feet.

Chicago Police Force Increased

CHICAGO, May 12.—The "flivver squads" of Chicago's police force are passe. Chief of Police Michael Hughes declared he will supplement them with armored motorcycles bearing bullet-proof windshields and suitable ordnance to deal with crooks.

Abandonment of the automobile squads, 150 small cars in all, was coupled with the announcement that Chief Hughes would seek 2000 more police to add to the present force of 6000 as a means of completing his program to clear the city of crooks within 90 days.

SOUTHERN AURORA SEEN

One of the most brilliant displays of the Aurora Australis ever seen lit up the southwestern sky of New South Wales recently. As reported from Christchurch, early in the morning the sky was almost dazzling with a white light like that of a distant searchlight display. It was also visible the night of the same day. Two nights before, the magnetic observatory recorded a permanent aurora which was not visible to the naked eye, but was one of the strongest ever recorded there in many years.

DO YOUR OWN DIVING

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 12—After a purse was dropped into a catch basin here, several men were told that a large sum of money had been lost. Contents of the purse were豪取出, taken to the outskirts of the city and raked over all day by a squad of men. At sundown the purse was found. It contained 26 cents and three street car tickets. Next time a purse is lost the owner may do his own diving, officials say.

CHATSWORTH—Chatworth is fast becoming one of the fig-growing centers of the state. The industry has grown so within the last two or three years that the town is finding itself, so to speak, swallowed up in a series of huge fig groves. There are several plants here from which one may buy anything from a ripe Kadota to the candied article in decorated containers ready for shipment to the "fancy trade" in the far Atlantic markets. Fred King, president of the San Fernando Fig Growers' association, now announces that another new factory is to be erected, for the manufacture of fig syrup, and that it will be in operation by July 1, next. The plant will be built on Devonshire street, alongside the Southern Pacific tracks. Confectioners and the wholesale drug trade are large buyers of fig syrup.

CLAREMONT—Remodeling of the Claremont post office was completed today, providing additional space for the workers who are handling the increasing amount of business from this office. Claremont's mail business has been growing in proportion to its unprecedented building growth.

MONROVIA—Expenditures for improvements totaling $172,000 will be made this year in the Monrovia district by the Southern Counties Gas company, it was announced today by Walter Keene, district manager here. The budget allows $28,000 to Arcadia, $34,000 to El Monte and $110,000 to Monrovia. The principal items planned for Monrovia are installation of a 500,000 cubic feet gas container at the South Magnolia avenue plant and laying of 32,330 feet of new and replaced gas mains.

WILMINGTON, May 12.—Special trains with the beauty and power of the country represented in the passenger lists began arriving in Louisville today as evidence of the universal movement of race lovers toward their Zion. Behind the strings of green Pullmans came many of the lesser gentry of the sporting world, clutching the brake beams of freight cars. Special staffs of trainers already had brought most of their 3-year-old charges through to Louisville.

The crowd around the lobbies of the hotels, near the Churchill Downs track and on the streets was growing hourly. Already hotel reservations were exhausted.

The fifty-third renewal of the Kentucky Derby Saturday will be a record event and Kentucky hospitality will be taxed to the utmost.

Cabinet members and senators; railroad magnates and oil kings; baseball club owners and governors—their wives and their daughters—will attend the derby and their presence is the particular element which makes the derby different from other horse races.

Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, will lead one of the principal delegations from Gotham. Others are coming from all the commercial and financial centers of the country. Chicagoans will arrive here on $1 special trains.

With the signing of Thomson the cast for "Man Bait" is exceptionally fine. Other players assigned to important roles are Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Adela Rogers St. John, Eddie Gibbons, Louis Nathau, Betty Francisco and Fritz Ridgeway.

WEST COAST WALKER
A whole three-ring circus of comedians of every sort makes up the cast of characters in "Her Big Night," which closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Laura La Plante, the pretty comedienne who has become so popular in her last few pictures, plays the starring role. Such experienced comedy-makers as Leo Mack, a former two-reel star; Mack Swain, comedy "villain" of Chaplin pictures; Zasu Pitts, one of the screen's most gifted character actress; Nat Carr, former vaudeville and musical comedy headliner; Cissy Fitzgerald, former musical comedy queen; William Austin, who has added comedy relief to scores of pictures; and others, are in the supporting cast.

Grace and quiet dignity are typified in this stucco house, the "Carolina." Truly southern in its architecture, it embodies the most up-to-the-minute details of interior design.

The Carolina looks spacious, and it is. Downstairs there are five large rooms, a large front veranda and an enclosed back porch. Notice that facilities are provided for six fireplaces. The dining room, living room and downstairs bedroom or den all may be equipped with fireplaces if desired.

The breakfast nook and pantry are separated both from the dining room and kitchen. There is a lavatory on the first floor.

Three of the four upper bedrooms are served with fireplaces. There are two bathrooms, ample closet space and a long central hall. From the linen closet on the hall there is a clothes chute.

NEW REPORT GIVES BUILDING EXPENSE

DENVER, May 12.—Labor constitutes 62 per cent of the cost of building the average dwelling house while materials represent 38 per cent, according to a study of construction made by the U. S. department of labor.

The labor department's appor-tionment differs slightly from a new set of data worked out by contractors and which is now being studied by Washington officials. These data apportion to labor a cost of 60 per cent and to materials 40 per cent.

According to the new set of data, the foundation and masonry work represent 36 per cent of the total cost of the completed job. The foundation is the largest single item of construction expense. The second largest item of cost is 29 per cent and covers carpentry, both labor and materials.

Plumbing fixtures plus their installation cost are reported as 10 per cent of the entire cost. The heating plant is rated as nine per cent of the total cost, while hardware is apportioned as eight per cent, and painting, including materials, as six per cent. Lighting fixtures and installation about two per cent of the total cost of the completed job, according to the new report.

HEROIC WOMAN HIDES SOLDIER FOR 3 YEARS

BERTRY, Germany, May 12.—For four tense and heart-breaking years, during which the German occupation lasted, a French woman successfully concealed an English soldier in a cupboard in her house, although German musketeers were billeted with her practically all of the time. She has just been made a dame of the Order of the British Empire for her heroic act, which required not only courage, but consummate coolness, presence of mind and finesse which a greatest actress might envy.

In a dispatch to the New York Evening World, Pierre Van Paassen states that Mme. Belmont-Gobert, whose hundreds of Britishers visit yearly, is known in her native village of Bertry as "la femme qui cache l'Anglais" (the woman who hid the Englishman), and she earned her title when she discovered Patrick Fowler, a wounded soldier, in the woods.

She cared for him till he recovered, "but he had to remain hidden in order to escape capture," and the account continues:

Fowler hid from Jan. 15, 1915, till Oct. 10, 1918, and crept out of his hiding place only when the Germans evacuated Bertry.

Incredible as it may seem, Fowler spent most of his time during three years and nine months in a section of a cupboard, and still more incredible, he was there at times when unsuspecting Germans were actually sitting around the fire in the same room.

The dark oak armoire is about five and one-half feet high, the same length and, perhaps, twenty inches wide. It is divided into two sections: the right section has several shelves, while the left section, intended for hanging clothes, does not have any shelves.

It was in this latter compartment that Fowler hid during the daytime. At night when all was quiet he came out of his uncomfortable cachette, but there were many nights when he was compelled to stay in.

The widow thinks that suspicion was diverted from the wardrobe by the fact that she always kept the door of the right section slightly open. Often, when German soldiers were in the room, she would open it even wider and, ostentatiously, take serviette or other articles off the shelves. The door of the other half was kept closed, of course.

There were some critical moments. Once a German major, screwing a monocle in his eye, advanced upon the cupboard with the obvious intention of looking into the closed section. Madame Belmont started to shake and tremble, but soon recovered her wits. She, also, stepped forward, and brushing past the major, snatched a silver-framed photograph from the top of the cupboard.

"I cannot spare this," she exclaimed, making believe that she thought the officer wanted to take the photo. "It is my only daughter."

The curious part of the story is that nearly the whole village knew of the hidden soldier, and even knew his exact hiding place, and that nobody gave the secret away to the occupational authorities, though a prize was offered in the early days of the war to anyone showing the whereabouts of a hidden enemy soldier.

Up to a few weeks ago, continues the correspondent, Madame Belmont eked out a miserable existence, ill and always short of food. Happily, however, this has been changed completely.

Madame Belmont had almost forgotten the British troops and had her mind occupied with quite different things—for her two sons died in the war and her husband fell in the first battle of the Marne—when the action of the British government suddenly changed her condition of poverty and destitution.

She was first notified that she was entitled to 4 francs a day allowance for all the days of the four years that she had fed and harbored a British officer.

Then she received a visit from the colonel of the Tenth British Hussars, Fowler's unit, who came to offer a handsome silver tablet to be hung on the wall.

The money received from the British war office was swallowed up immediately. For Madame Belmont shared it with a host of neighbors, who each in turn had supplied the food for the British soldier during that long time of hiding.

The officers of the Tenth British Hussars, with Brig. Gen. F. L. Spears at their head, have opened a subscription in London and the first 100 pounds sterling have found their way to the humble cottage in Bertry.

The French government has also taken notice of Madame Belmont's action, and the minister of war, M. Painlevé, proposes to grant her a pension, while it is almost certain that she will be decorated with some French order of merit.

Fowler, the Tenth Hussar trooper, who was the man for whom the Bertry villagers and the widow risked their lives, is still in the British army, none the worse for his harrowing experiences, apparently.

OWLS TO DESTROY RATS ON ISLANDS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Two cases of owls have been shipped from San Diego to Lord Howe Island in the south seas where it is hoped the birds will wage relentless war on an army of rats that is plaguing the 11 inhabitants out of house and home. Traps and poison have failed and several dozen cats imported have lost their appetite for the rodents.

E. G. Babbitt, an American trade commissioner at Sidney, has reported here that experts sent to the island by the Australian government decided that the California barn owl was the most persistent enemy of rats. The rats have been dumped on the islands by ships stopping to purchase palm seeds which is the chief product of the island.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cents a fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1876—Adv.

SPORTSMEN ADOPT NEW BREED OF DOG

NEW YORK, May 12—There is a new star in dogdom that threatens to outshine any breed that has been introduced in America within the past generation. It is the bassett hound, still a novelty in this country, but a recognized sports champion in Europe for three centuries.

The bassett rose to its greatest fame in France in the middle of the seventeenth century. Sometime during his early history, a blood hound strain was introduced into the species and now, although some traces of the mixed ancestry can be noticed, the legs of the bassett are short, heavily-boned and usually very crooked. For all that he covers the ground like a flash and has been used in Europe in hunting deer, wild boar, wolf, hares, foxes and quail.

The fact that he is qualified to take the place of the spaniel makes the bassett a particular favorite for hunting. His working qualities make him particularly useful to hunters who can afford only one or two dogs.

If You Like Style In More Than Clothes

"STYLE FIRST—beauty next" said a famous and wise Frenchwoman two hundred years ago. Had she lived today she would have recognized both in this Berkey & Gay Suite—which has the dignity, the simplicity, the charm of the very finest examples of Colonial Furniture—and a beauty and variety of woods that are striking indeed. Beautiful broad expanse of hand-matched butt walnut, narrow drawers and aprons of maple burl are gloriously rich in figuring and in tone. Here is fine workmanship to the last detail. Warp-proof woods. Hand-rubbed surfaces. Drawer interiors of pure mahogany. Dust proof. Hand-fitted. Where can you get such style, such craftsmanship at such a price? It cannot be exceeded at any price.

ACTIVITIES OF 'Y. M.' IN CHINA NOT CURTAILED

A panorama of the Chinese situation with its internal strife and communistic activities — different, however, from the picture painted by newspaper correspondents as it relates to the recent suspension of Christian missionary work, is portrayed in a letter received by Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., from Fletcher S. Beckman, associate general secretary of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. in charge of association's activities in China.

Writing from New York under date of May 6, the national secretary goes on to say:

"You could easily infer from accounts of the China situation in the daily press that most of the foreign secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., in China have evacuated their posts, that the association buildings have been confiscated and the associations were closed. I am writing you this letter to give you the latest news from the field.

"Not one association has been closed, not one building has yet been confiscated and out of our total staff of foreign secretaries in China only seven are temporarily kept from their work.

The association was never more alive and, while involved like everything else Chinese in the perils and difficulties of the present crisis, it is finding that these very perils and difficulties are opening new and unexpected doors, especially among the student and laboring classes where the attacks of the radical element are being centered.

"T. Z. Koo tells me that the National committee has just placed strong new student secretaries at Yunnanfu, Nanking, Wuchang, Tsinan, Tientsin, Taiyuan, Canton and Changsha in response to urgent demands from these centers. A letter from one of the foreign secretaries says, 'Red agitators have stood at our front doorsteps and preached to the thousands in the street against the Y. M. C. A. and Christianity, but so far as we can see it has done no harm. There are fully twice as many young men coming to our building now as at any time in the past.'

"The upheaval has greatly increased the confidence of the country in the association and has brought it to the front as an indispensable national institution. The highest English official in China a few months ago called it the only nation-wide agency with a constructive program, and an eminent Chinese has referred to it as the rallying point of the sane, moderate, forward-looking people in China.

"The association leaders are alert to the demands of the moment and are molding their plans to the situation. All the activities of the association have been reorganized along three lines of emphasis, namely—character building, citizenship training and promotion of international goodwill.

"Barnett, our senior American secretary says, 'We are optimistic. In the upheaval and change now going on we see the spirit of God moving in the minds and hearts of men. Needs are revealed of which we were scarcely aware; and in seeking to meet them, we find new opportunities.'

"I do not mean to minimize difficulties. They are unbelievably great. The communists have avowed their determination to destroy the association and have declared it the greatest bulwark against their revolutionary program. Of course, the financial situation throughout the country is desperate. But persecution, hostile legislation, financial perplexities and other difficulties, instead of destroying the association are welding it into a new solidarity, deepening the loyalty of its members and drawing forth a new spirit of self-sacrifice.

"I see no indication that the association is to have a smaller place in China, but rather a larger one; nor that American co-operation will be less needed, less welcome, or less effective in the future than in the past. It is in their emergency that the strength of our support will count most. I have no fear that we shall fail them."

VALUE OF CLUB SINGING TOLD BY BEACH MAN

"Old Black Joe" and "Mother Machree" are the best songs of to day for stirring the souls of business men and diverting their attention from their business cares. Members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club were told in an address by Walter Barber, secretary of the Long Beach club. The address was declared by members to have been one of the most polished deliveries ever presented to the local organization.

"Club Music" was the topic of the Long Beach man's discussion. He traced the development of music through the incident thousands of years ago of an archer in pulling a bow to its extreme point and letting the string fly back without an arrow attached. The vibration of the string created tunes that later were developed and improved into the music of today, he said.

"Show me a club that attempts to build itself without singing and I will show you a club that does not build," Barber said, in emphasizing a point as to the value of music and the direct influence clubs are having in changing the mind attitude of business men today with respect to their fellow men—an influence which was credited with more general adoption by business men of the golden rule in operation of their business enterprises.

Frank Merriam, former speaker of the assembly and president of the Long Beach club, accompanied the speaker to Santa Ana, as did two other members of the club of that city.

Forty-five members of the Santa Ana club indicated their intention of going to Whittier Tuesday to attend the Kiwanis club meeting there, when Santa Ana will provide the program. The Kiwanis will leave St. Ann's Inn at 11 a. m., and transportation will be provided for those who do not want to drive their own machines.

was introduced by Harry G. Huffman, W. B. Martin, Santa Ana realtor, man, chairman of the education committee, as the newest member of the club. The program yesterday was under the direction of the committee on education, and A. S. Hill, a member presided at the business session due to the absence of President Royce Robertson.

Secretary L. R. Crawford announced that the club had an average attendance of 95.5 per cent in the ten weeks attendance campaign which closed last Wednesday.

LEGION MEN TO HONOR FATHERS WITH BANQUET

"Fathers and Sons" night will be staged by Santa Ana Post, No. 181, American Legion, at the Legion home on Birch Street tonight, when the usual semi-monthly dinner will be served, followed by entertainment and some business.

Julie Markel, post commander, has announced that in cases where legionnaires have no sons, or the sons are unable to attend, members are asked to bring their fathers, and where there are no fathers, to bring a good friend. Because of the number of guests expected, the meeting, at the point of attendance, is expected to be the largest held by the post this year.

The American Legion auxiliary will serve the dinner. At the same time, it was announced that the auxiliary is short of milk bottles and post members are asked to bring a bottle to the meeting to-night to turn over to the auxiliary.

Frigidaire Unit Output Immense

Four Frigidaires a minute are now being turned out in the plants of Frigidaire Corporation at Dayton, Ohio, according to information received by the Howard company, local dealer. This is a production of 2000 units a day, which taxes the capacity of the factories, recently enlarged through a $20,000,000 expansion program.

"It has been estimated by Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, that four out of every five electric refrigerators now being installed are Frigidaires," said J. W. Jesse. "This subsidiary now ranks second in unit sales, an illustration of the overwhelming acceptance which has been accorded electric refrigeration by housewives of America."

"Carrying out its policy of larger sales and lower prices, Frigidaire recently announced a new household model, selling at the lowest price in the history of the business, and designed to appeal to hundreds of thousands who have been awaiting a Frigidaire of standard quality, selling at a popular price."

CHURCH PEOPLE ADOPT PROGRAM FOR INSTITUTE

With the adoption of a program for the first Bible school institute ever held in Santa Ana, set for May 26 and 27, another step was taken yesterday by the newly organized Santa Ana City Council on Religious Education to pave the way for supervised religious instruction to school children in this community.

The Rev. L. Harter, pastor of the United Brethren church, presided over the meeting which was held at the Y. M. C. A. building and attended by representatives of the following churches: Spurgeon Memorial, M. E. South, First Presbyterian, United Methodist, First Baptist, United Brethren, Richland Avenue M. E. and the Church of the Nazarene. Mrs. Walter Fine and Mrs. W. Johnston represented the Santa Ana City Federation of Parent-Teacher associations.

C. C. Stewart, member of Santa Ana high school faculty, was the main speaker. In the course of his remarks he stressed the value of religious training, which, he thought, would solve the juvenile problem.

Distance runs at the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate track and field championships in the Los Angeles Coliseum June 3 and 4, already attracting more attention than the sprints. Fans and experts are of the opinion that the mile and two miles will be closely contested, draw a greater number of famous runners as close at the finish as 100 and 200.

In the sprints Charles Borah, U. S. C., is an almost certain winner and interest will center around how fast he can amble those distances. In the mile and two miles not only are records likely to fall but it is a toss up to who will win.

Arnold Gillette, Montana captain, is defending champion in the distance races. He holds the records of 4:21.7 in the mile and 10.4 in the two miles. In the 100, Gillette will be pushed by ex-McKinnon of Stanford, Les Newbold of California, Capt. George Clayton of O. A. C., Ray Williams of W. S. C. and Chesley of S. C., all of whom have under 4:25 already this season.

In the two miles Johnny Devine of W. S. C., "Red" Ramsey of Washington, Rufus Ranney of Stanford, Al Stevens of California, Clinton Waite of U. C. L. A., F. Bell of O. A. C. should push Gillette in the eight lap event.

"Stuffy" McInnis, manager of the Phillies, is liable to seek entrance into the rank of golf pros when his baseball days are over. The famous first baseman is one of the best golfers following baseball for a living, and his game is always down in the low twenties. He made many a 72 Florida this spring. Must admit I love this game of golf," McInnis has often said, "and I'm likely to quit baseball some day and seek a job as a pro for some country club."

At least $200,000 is approximately how much members of the Oakland Acorns expect to profit from the sale of the youngsters on their ball club. The quintette is composed of Fenton, first baseman; Lary, first; Reese, second baseman; Craighead and Duglas, pitchers. Lary is the youngest, age 19, while Craighead and Fenton are the oldest, age 22. Lary is the best of the lot and would command a high price before the end of the season. The others are coming along in great shape, and plenty of figures will be attached to them if they make grade.

At any rate, these Oakland owners are expecting to slice a big lion in the next year or two in the sale of their youngsters.

Style of Princeton football will not be changed because of new rules.

Head Coach Bill Roper, who has already held spring practice, admits that he did not inaugurate any changes because of the lateral rules.

The Princeton system has not made use of the lateral pass this spring and probably will not do next year. We believe it is better to throw a long pass than a lateral one, and our system will remain the same."

The proverbial self-assurance of Walter Hagen, suave Beau Brummell of the golf professionals, is easily exemplified in an incident described by Grantland Rice in the American Golfer for May. The story recalled a wager the result of which Walter made on a Florida course before playing it for the first time. He offered $1000 that he would equal or break the course record with a 68. A local backer of the course took $750 of it.

Hagen reached the last green with a 12-foot putt to make his 68. "Hagen walked up to the green," said Rice, "and smiled blandly at the little gallery gathered around the green to see the end of the wager. 'Miss this putt for $750,' said Walter. 'I guess not!' And he bent over and tapped the ball right in without a quiver."

RIDES 40 YEARS

NEW YORK, May 12.—Harry S. Page, who at 68 years of age, takes a gallop across country, monocle and all, and has been riding in jumping races for forty years or so, is confident he is good enough to be a gentleman jockey still. He accepted a mount for a chase at Belmont park recently. He won a race there four years ago.

Cobb, Simmons Fined $200 for Umpire Fracas

CHICAGO, May 12.—Ty Cobb and Al Simmons were fined $200 each for their recent altercation with Umpire Ormsby at Philadelphia recently, it became known today.

News of the fines was contained in a letter Bar Johnson, president of the American league, sent to Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Cobb's suspension, according to the letter, was because of the "lack of injustice in bumping the umpire at the crucial moment," and Simmons because he incited the crowd against Ormsby.

SCHEDULE FOR FIRST GAME IN SUMMER NIGHT TWILIGHT LOOP TO BE MAY 17

Fourteen consecutive weeks of high class indoor baseball will be offered local fans this summer in the race for the championship of the Santa Ana Night Baseball league, which will begin officially the evening of May 23 at Lincoln park.

A schedule for the full season was announced today by the Commission of the City Night Baseball association.

The opening contest, arranged by draw, will be played between the F. C. Blauer Grocers, city champions last year, and the First National bank, a newcomer to local lunar ranks. The Tiernan Kids and the Platt Silvertowns mingle in the second set-to, the Santa Ana Lumber company and the Dunton Fords in the third and the Santa Ana Firemen and the Chandler Furniture in the final hook-up of the week.

The schedule follows:

Only two pitchers, Amos Rusie and Rube Waddell have done better at the present pitching distance, the former getting 345 in 1890 as a member of the New York Giants, the latter 343 with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1904.

In his debut year, Johnson fanned 64 batters in 112 innings, which is an average of about seven men per regulation game.

Injuries and illness kept him from taking part in more than 144 innings in 1920, 16 full games, yet he managed to whiff 78, an average of five per game.

In 18 of his 20 years as a big league pitcher, Johnson has 11 times struck out between 100 and 200 batters; five times he has set down between 200 and 300 total hitters on strikes; in two seasons he has gotten 313 and 303 to be exact.

Over a period of 20 years, in which he actually pitched 5816 innings, Johnson has struck out 349 of the opposition, an average of 170 per season.

Some pitching! Believe me!

HANDBALL COURT TO BE LAID AT Y. M. C. A.

Work has been started on the construction of a handball court at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. The old "Y" hut, built four years ago to serve as an office during construction of the main building, is being taken down and remodeled into a fine four-wall court, which will permit the local handball fans to practice under favorable conditions.

Handball inquiries revealed, has not been played at the local Y. M. C. A. because of lack of space, but with the provision of this new

MORE COURSES ARE ADDED TO SUMMER WORK

Ninth grade and senior high school subjects today had been definitely added to the courses provided for the summer school at Frances Willard junior high school, it was announced today by W. S. Kellogg, principal.

The principal pointed out, however, that carrying of the courses would depend entirely on whether enrollment is sufficient to "justify" instructions. English, social science, civics, economics, history, Spanish, algebra, geometry, business methods and typing will be taught.

The course has been arranged primarily for those who wish to make up grades or to raise grades to recommended standing," Kellogg said. "With permission of the principals of the schools from which pupils come, advance standing may be earned in one to three subjects.

"Full junior and senior high school semester credit will be given for courses successfully completed."

It was stated that in addition to the junior and high school work, classes will be organized in seventh and eighth grade geography, U. S. History, English, literature, grammar and arithmetic. There also will be classes for elementary school subjects for grades four to six, with Miss Minnie Seibert, principal of John Muir school, in charge.

Through permission of the county superintendent of schools, pupils who fail in eighth grade county examinations may make up the work in the summer school classes.

Pupils wishing to attend the summer school should register at the Frances Willard school at as early a date as possible, the principal said.

Celebrate Straw Hat Day Friday In Local Stores

Friday the 13th!!! Black cats, ill luck and all in all a dangerous day for most everyone and everything, as an old time legend goes, but most particularly for felt hats in Santa Ana.

Friday, May 13 has been set as Straw Hat Day for Santa Ana and merchants of the city are not going to pass up the day without letting the public know that this particular day is not only unlucky for most things but particularly for the old felt lids that have been worn throughout the winter months.

Straw Hat day does not mean that everyone should buy a straw hat on that day, merchants point out.

"Friday the 13th, is the last day for persons to buy their new straw hats," one merchant said. In other words, citizens of Santa Ana, in order to be well dressed must have had their straw hats purchased before the stores close on the night of the 13th.

The slogan "Friday the 13th, unlucky for felts," is the slogan of this year's Straw Hat day.

'Y' CHORISTERS WILL PRODUCE MINSTREL SHOW

"Bigger and better" is the slogan for the midnight minstrels to be staged on Thursday evening, May 19, by the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. Choristers as their spring offering to the public.

Rehearsals have been in progress for some weeks, producing results which promise to surpass anything that the "Y" singers have yet attempted. Since this is the first and only large size home talent minstrel show in Santa Ana this spring, the promoters anticipate capacity audiences and a general lively time, according to C. E. Hawk, president of the choristers.

The program of the show, says Hawk, is to center around the characters made famous in the stories of Octavus Roy Cohen, dealing with "Midnight Motion Pictures." The entire company of male members of the Midnight Motion Pictures will be represented in the minstrel circle.

Florian Slaphey, the Beau Brummel of Birmingham, will act as "Interlocutioner," impersonated by C. E. Hawk, Welford Potts, the handsome colored actor, will be represented by A. J. Rutter. W. A. Obar appears as "Bud Peagler, proprietor of Darktown's favorite eating place. James Bramley is Brutus Herring; George Krock is Epic Peters—the dull-witted Pullman porter. Floyd Rogers has been chosen for the role of J. Caesar Clump, the snappy motion picture director. H. A. Bradley takes the part of Eustace Gribble and Reginald Hartley will shine at Opus Randall. To Cleve Sedoris has been given the important role of Orifice J. Latimer, president of the Midnight Motion Pictures.

Professor Alex Champagne and his famous jazzophonic orchestra will handle the instrumental part of the program while numerous well known vocalists will be heard in soul-stirring renditions of old time favorite minstrel melodies and heart songs.

The show will be given in the gymnasium hall of the Y. M. C. A. building. The proceeds will go to the boys' camp aid fund by which worthy boys are helped to attend the summer camp.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Encounters

B. Ifor Evans has struck the chord of popular fancy in "Encounters," for in this book he has created just such characters as appeal to the ordinary person. These studies are impressions thrown, for the most part, into fiction.

Evans has told of several encounters with celebrities, although he announces that he learned early in the journey of which he writes that "the men with big names have a set speech which they deliver to visitors after which they remain dumb."

However, in most of the encounters one finds that the people are not real "as," the author writes, "that would be an abuse to the hospitality and courtesy I received from these same peoples." The mood of the book tends towards the satiric and is less kindly than one would imagine. However, the book makes delightful reading.

Henry James

Henry James, the author of such creations as "The Passionate Pilgrim," "Roderick Hudson," "Four Mettings," "Daisy Miller," "Lady Barbara," "The American Scene" and "The Wings of the Dove," has been brought to life again by Pelham Edgar in his latest book by that name. The book is not a biography as the greater part of it is given over to criticisms of various works of James.

In speaking of James, Evans says "it is true that no writer of our modern day has succeeded better than James in sheltering his privacy in life and providing for it after his death. For the legitimate curiosity of posterity he felt that he had made sufficient provision in the volumes in which, with tantalizing complexity, it must be confessed, he traced the pattern of his early years; and friendship shall have disappeared, friendship shall have disappeared these biographical records and letters must be the only material from which the future may reconstruct his merely human identity. For the reconstruction of his mind he has, like Ashton Doyne, bequeathed the world his books."

An Adventure in Constructive Finance

In his preface to "An Adventure in Constructive Finance," Carter Glass writes "I alone am responsible for the narrative here presented, which has been written out of my knowledge of the circumstances recited and my observation of the events. This one thing I do know and assert, in whatever degree the statement may seem to lack proper reserve, that there is no man living who, from beginning or in the progress or at the ending of federal revenue legislation, was more closely identified with the consideration and enactment of the law under which the federal reserve banking system was set up. There were not many important things said on the subject, and fewer written, that have not a place in the vast abundance of memoranda of all kinds which I assembled in that period, embracing several thousand letters, monologues, drafted bills, private minutes of House committees, conferences and party caucuses, with data of other description, public and confidential."

In this book the author has compiled the many valuable statistics with which he is familiar and in so doing has presented to the world one of the most important bits of financial history in America.

In Savage Australia When yet a boy of 22 years Knut Dahl, now professor of agriculture at the Norwegian college of agriculture, Oslo, answered the call of the unknown" and went out into the wilds of South America and later into the heart of Australia. Here, for two years, he lived among the Australian savages, one of the most primitive races on the globe. He led a hunter's life full of adventures and dangers, and returned to his native land with a wealth of experience and valuable observations.

In the book, "In Savage Australia," Knut Dahl records his life and adventures among the remarkable and primitive savages of Australia, and his observations and discoveries in the Australian wilderness. He tells his tale simply, in the terse, crisp style peculiar to him, and he brings vividly before us every incident, every scene. We share his life in its savage surroundings and we sit at his campfire in primeval forests.

Californians to Explore Remote Corner of Earth

LOS ANGELES, May 12—The name of California as sponsor of scientific research of international import will be carried to one of the remote corners of the earth shortly when an expedition from the California Botanical Gardens will penetrate the wilds of French

Indo-China to gather specimens of rare plants and flowers, it was announced today. Dr. E. D. Merrill, dean of the agricultural college and director-elect of the California Botanical Gardens has been authorized by the Garden Foundation to send the expedition into the Orient. The country to be combed for botanical specimens is said to have been undisturbed by botanists since 1790. This means that the scientific expedition will be able to send to the gardens at Los Angeles specimens of plant life never before seen in America. The exploring party also puts California on the map as one of the important centers of scientific research in plant life.

Frigidaire PRODUCTS of GENERAL MOTORS

A Word that Earns Millions for California Citrus Growers

VALUABLE beyond price is a trademark, or name, which people use in buying.

As a mark of identification it enables buyers to repeat a satisfactory purchase. Thus, the producer of meritorious merchandise, by giving his goods a name, may win a preference for his line and a premium for his care.

In America "Sunkist" has become a household word. It has a value comparable to that of "Kodak," "Palmolive," "Quaker Oats," and "Old Dutch Cleanser." It is the world's best known brand of fresh fruit. More people prefer it than all other brands of citrus fruits combined. On oranges and lemons it has the significance of the word "sterling" on silver.

For 20 years grower members of the California Fruit Growers Exchange have been building this reputation and leadership by marketing only their better grades under the name "Sunkist." The uniformly good quality of Sunkist Oranges, Lemons and Grapefruit has been continuously advertised. To millions "Sunkist" is not merely a trade-mark, but a grade-mark that they invariably specify to get satisfactory fruit.

Thus "Sunkist" has won the confidence, not only of the trade, but of the public.

Consumers willingly pay a premium for this brand because of its known dependability, and dealers, because it is easier to sell. Hence, "Sunkist" invariably averages a higher price, over any period, than unknown fruit of equal grade and quality.

The good will toward "Sunkist" is an asset that has required 20 years' time and a large advertising investment to build. Yet the minute you start marketing through the Exchange your fruit shares in its value.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange is the only marketing organization which offers California growers the accumulated advantages of continuous national advertising and the use of so valuable a trade-mark.

Eleven thousand growers—three out of every four in California—now enjoy the benefits of shipping their better grades in Sunkist wrappers. You, too, can share in the added returns that come from marketing under this world-famous trade-mark if you join the co-operative growers' organization. Ask your neighbors who market through the Exchange how they value its services. Talk to the manager of the near-by District Exchange or association. Or, write for further information to California Fruit Growers Exchange, Box 530, Station "C," Los Angeles.

Oranges Sunkist Lemons Grapefruit

THE California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit organization of 11,000 California citrus fruit growers, producing about 75% of the California citrus crop, operated by and for them on a co-operative basis. Its object is to develop the national and international market for California oranges, lemons and grapefruit by concerted effort, and to provide a marketing organization that will sell the fruit of its members most advantageously and at the least expense. Receipts from sales, less only the actual costs of operation, are returned to the growers.

Applications are received through all of the Exchange's 201 local packing associations, or at the central office in Los Angeles.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA:

P. T. Barnum

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Braucher

(To Be Continued)

The hippogator waddled 'round and very soon the Tinnies found that it was really friendly, and they patted it a bit. Said Copy: "Oh, I want a ride. I wonder now, if I would slide right off its back. But still, it seems a dandy place to sit."

The others helped him climb aboard and very soon they simply roared. The hippogator walked so queer, poor Copy almost fell. However, he hung on a while, and then, when through, began to smile. Said he, "I guess I'm pretty good. Just try it. Gee, it's swell."

So several others also rode. The hippo seemed to like the load. He fed them to a wondrous stream, and Scouty said, "Let's swim." Old Daffydoe came up just then and said, "I have a plan again. We'll build a diving dock and see if you're in diving trim."

They gathered wood from all around and piled it high upon the ground. Then Daffy brought some nails and things with which to start the work. Said he, "We'll make this thing look grand if everyone will lend a hand. Come on, let's all get busy 'cause I want no one to shrink."

The saws and hammer flew real fast and several hours went drifting past. At noon the bunch started work a while to eat some new grown corn. It grew within a field real slick, and all they had to do was pick. When Clowney tripped upon a stump his clothes were almost torn.

Said Daffydoe, "That ought to teach you not to pick what you can't reach. There's plenty right close to the ground." Then dinner was begun. In just one hour, by Daffy's clock, they all were back upon the dock, and by the time the nighttime came, the diving place was done.

Must Women Worry Now About Baldness?

Bobbed Hair Has Caused an Increase in Scalp Trouble Among Women, Says Hair Specialist

Woman ventured boldly when she bobbed her hair. What penalty she will have to pay, time only will tell. But immediate consequences are alarming enough. Dandruff is on the increase and more serious scalp troubles are now common among women.

In an exhaustive analysis recently made by Prof. John H. Austin, over 40 years a hair and scalp specialist, a startling fact was revealed. About eight out of ten women examined were afflicted with a serious scalp disorder often mistaken for common dandruff, known as "Alopecia Pitryodes," which leads to baldness in from two to seven years.

The Cause of Trouble

It is a scientific fact that the bacteria which spread disease through the scalp are most quickly transferred to a healthy scalp by means of infected comb or brush. Now that the vogue for "bobs" is assured, women are subject to the multiplied dangers of contagion and should heed every warning of scalp trouble.

The First Sign
You can quickly recognize the trouble by the so-called "dandruff scale," sometimes dry and flaky, making the hair dry and brittle, sometimes grayish-white and greasy, making the hair oily and stringy. Both cause falling hair, and often a terrible itching occurs.

This disease progresses slowly, the hair gradually thinning out until the germs become deeply seated, and then the rapid fall of hair which precedes baldness is noticed with alarm.

How to Check It

You can stop the trouble by riding the scalp of germ-laden dandruff scales with an effective formula discovered by Prof. John H. Austin. This formula, called "Formula G," Prof. Austin used in his private practice with amazing success. It cleanses the scalp and stops itching immediately. Not a tonic, but a scientific formula in pleasant cream form. Easily and quickly applied to the scalp, it vanishes instantly and penetrates to the very roots of the hair. It revives the life and lustre, making your hair rich, lustrous and beautiful. You will be delighted with the results—and if you are not absolutely satisfied your druggist will refund your money.

ROAD PROGRAM SCHEDULED TO GET UNDER WAY

FULLERTON, May 12.—After months of preparatory work, definite action is expected to be taken tonight toward the widening of Spadra road between the city limits of Fullerton on the south and the city limits of Anaheim on the north, when a meeting of 29 property owners with representatives of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Fullerton clubs.

The highway committee with R. F. Davies, chairman, has taken an active interest in the project and has sent out invitations to all the property owners to be present at tonight's meeting. At this meeting, the property owners will be furnished with detailed information on the proposed project covering state and county appropriations. Maps designed by S. V. Cortelyou, division engineer for the state highway commission, will be furnished to the property owners tonight.

7 Newport Beach Boy Scouts Will Be Given Badges

NEWPORT BEACH, May 12.—Seven members of the local troop of Boy Scouts will receive awards at the next meeting of the court of honor, it was learned today from Jack Twiss, scoutmaster.

Grant Holt, who will be presented with merit badges for personal health, public health and craft in wood, heads the list in point of number of awards. Others who are slated to receive badges are as follows: Harry Robinson, basket weaving; Wilford MacDonald, carpentry and masonry; Russell Shaffer, masonry; Albert Spencer, business; Darrell Sabin, and James Craig, second class badge.

A junior troop of boys not old enough to qualify for the regular Scout troop is being formed. They will be known as the "Cubs," and will number approximately 16 members to begin with. There are 10 members now signed. The regular Scout troop has a registered enrollment of 31 members with three non-registered members.

A letter has been written to the Newport Chamber of Commerce offering the services of the Scouts in the ceremony on Memorial day. As yet no reply has been received. Shall the chamber decline the services of the scouts, a special ceremony will be conducted by the troop independently, according to Twiss.

ORANGE NEAR RED CROSS FUND GOAL

ORANGE, May 12.—With but $97.50 to be raised to attain the quota of $2000 which has been decided upon as the goal for Orange and vicinity, Mrs. W. H. Peterkin, chairman of the Red Cross Mississippi flood relief work in Orange, today announced that approximately four times as much had been contributed by Orange residents as was originally thought necessary.

The thought of relatives and friends of many residents of this community, who have recently arrived from the middle west, having driven from their homes and deprived of the use of their property by the inundation, has caused a continuous flow of money to be forthcoming toward the assistance of the victims of the flood, according to Mrs. Peterkin.

That Orange will oversubscribe the goal by several hundred dollars is the belief of those working on the project.

Campaign Starts To Clear Lots

LA HABRA, May 12.—City Engineer Paul D. Pratt, who is starting a campaign for the cleaning of weeds and trash off the vacant lots of the city, "pointed with pride" yesterday to the fact that a non-resident property owner was the first to take the initiative in this work. Mr. Pratt said he had been informed that this man, who owns property in the eastern part of the city, had given orders that his lot be cleaned up.

Mr. Pratt has been making a list of owners of vacant property and, in accordance with instructions from the city trustees, will send each a letter urging clean-up of their lots. Should this plan not prove effective, it is probable that more drastic measures will be taken.

SIX TIMES OUR QUOTA

The response to the call for aid for sufferers in the Mississippi valley flood has been generous throughout Orange county. In the southern half of the county the total already has reached approximately six times the original quota given the local chapter, which includes Santa Ana, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Tustin, Costa Mesa, Newport Beach, Balboa, El Toro, Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano. True, the original quota was small, only $1100, which later was doubled, and we now have raised three times our doubled quota.

When there is a tremendous call for help, such as has gone forth from the flooded areas of the Mississippi, we know no quotas. We have assurances from both governmental and Red Cross authorities that the need is far greater than they had believed likely at the time quotas were fixed. Every dollar raised will be put to excellent use. The fact that the money is being administered by the Red Cross, which agency has been designated by the U. S. government as the agency to take charge of relief work, is assurance that the money will go to the very highest and best use in relief work. The Red Cross has gone through many disasters. It has an experienced organization, fully equipped to meet great emergencies, and its expenditures are not made in any haphazard manner. It is because of the confidence we have in the Red Cross that donations are whole-hearted and generous.

Indications are that the local chapter will send not less than $7000, possibly $7500, to the flood relief fund. It all will be needed; the donors are asking no thanks for the showing made, but it is worthy of attention that the money all has come without the slightest campaign or solicitation of individuals by the local Red Cross.

The hearts of the people of this county are in the right place.

FOOLISH FOREIGN LOANS

All peace-time records were broken last month in American foreign loans. This country lent abroad $209,000,000.

Foreign countries already owe the American people $20,000,000,000 to $25,000,000,000, about half of it in government loans and half in private loans. Our private investors lately have been lending money abroad at the rate of more than a billion a year, and now that rate is increasing.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover steps in with a word of good counsel, advising Americans not to make any more foreign loans for military purposes or for balancing national budgets.

"It is a tempting thing," he says, "for certain European governments to find a horde of American bankers sitting on their doorsteps offering them money. It is also demoralizing for municipalities and corporations in the same countries to have money pressed on them. That sort of competition tends to insecurity and unsound practice."

There should be no opposition to safe and legitimate loans, he adds. But "no nation should itself borrow, or permit its citizens to borrow, money from foreign countries, and no nation should allow its citizens to lend money to foreign countries, unless this money is to be devoted to productive enterprise."

If that is "patriotism," it is pretty sensible patriotism. Too much American money is helping to arm Europe and helping to pay the current expenses of national and municipal governments. It would be far better if the bankers were begging constructive American enterprise to accept their loans, and if the masses of thrifty folk who provide the funds for lending should insist on such use of them.

FRENZIED ATHLETICS

"Your fellows go at their games much more intensely than we do," remarks an English athletic star attending an American track meet.

"Perhaps that accounts for the fact," he adds, "that so many of your American college stars 'burn out' after brief competitive careers. They put all they have into three or four years of keen action."

"In England we take track and field sports less seriously; we do not train so sharply, either. One of my leading rivals in the hurdles, for instance, is a man 32 years old, getting better at an age when nearly all of your Americans have retired from competition."

Sane words! We need a little of such sanity sprinkled over American amateur athletics, no matter from what quarter—and England, with its sane love of outdoor sport, is a good quarter for it.

Not only are our college and high school athletes often "burned out" by the strain of intense training and competition, so that they are of little value to themselves and society in their maturity, but the craze for athletic championships is burning out a large part of the scholarship and culture of our educational institutions.

As for the general run of boys and girls who need to have their bodies built up by a rational system of mild, wholesome exercise in their formative years, they are not getting it. The physical development of those who need it most is sacrificed for the over-development of the exceptional ones who do not need it.

High schools and colleges become institutions of competitive sport rather than mental training, and the majority do not even share in the sport except in the form of artificial enthusiasm that burns up their nervous energy and warps their judgment of real values.

WHEAT INSURANCE

The Agricultural Crop Insurance Co. of Topeka, Kans., sells wheat insurance. If it has cost a farmer $10 an acre to grow his crop and he receives only $8 an acre for it, such insurance may repay him the other two dollars.

"I have been working on a wheat mortality table," says the man who started this type of insurance, "for several years, and have worked it back for 15 years, by counties. Our rates are based on that table. Of course, we have to inspect each field risk carefully, and if the moisture in the fall does not guarantee that the seed will come up, we won't write the insurance."

Insurance is written from sowing time to May 1. After that date both farmer and insurance man know pretty well whether there is to be a crop or a failure.

It is all as scientific and safe as writing life insurance, it is said. Crop insurance is not uncommon in the eastern and southeastern states. This wheat insurance is likely to gain favor in the grain-growing states. Its existence emphasizes the fact that there is no gamble in it from the insurance man's standpoint. It may be a safety device for the wheat grower.

Somehow we can't quite help a sneaking conviction that the European corn borer movement in this country is part of the great Soviet conspiracy. Boring from within is a Russian specialty.

Farmers Going Abroad

Long Beach Sun

For several years farmers from every part of the country have been writing to the United States department of agriculture and asking advice about travel in Europe. They wanted to know where to go to learn most about agricultural methods and problems. This year the farmers are going—a shipload of them.

There is no other country in the world that raises more or better agricultural produce than America. But there are a good many things Americans can learn from the farmers of Europe. Denmark knows more about farm co-operation in the matter of buying supplies and selling products; Sweden knows more about developing hydro-electric power and making it available for use on the farms; Germany knows more about raising sugar beets and making them into sugar; Holland knows more about cheese-making; and pretty nearly all of northern Europe knows more about conservation and forestry. At least it should be conceded to these countries that they should know more, since they have been studying and practicing these arts and sciences much longer.

It is promised that in the touring delegation will be some of the leaders of thought among the farmers, and the letter sent out by the American Farm Bureau notifying farmers of the opportunity contains this significant sentence: "We believe that the experiences and discussion sessions of the pilgrimage will furnish you with an invaluable and highly effective background for appraisal of the political debates and contentions of 1928."

That is an announcement calculated to make the ears of politicians tingle.

Road Building Nation

Redlands Facts

In what respect is the United States particularly different from other countries of the world? In the fact that its people use, as necessities, articles which a majority of citizens in other countries deem luxuries.

As a simple illustration, take the automobile. Twenty-two million of them are running in our nation of about 110 million people. This is probably four times as many automobiles as the rest of the world owns. Approximately 18 million telephones in the United States tell the same story, as well as general use of electricity.

This means that all the people—the day laborer as well as the man with money—make common use of the most modern conveniences.

With the automobile has come our remarkable road system. Twenty years ago we had no paved highways through the country. Today paved roads aggregate tens of thousands of miles, and it will be but a few years until unbroken pavement on several routes will stretch from the Atlantic to the Pacific, just as it now reaches from Canada to Mexico on the Western coast.

Hoover Disavows Candidacy

Fresno Republican

Herbert Hoover announces that he is not a candidate for President in 1928, and is working for his chief, Calvin Coolidge, for re-election.

This statement is worth just what it is worth. It is undoubtedly sincere.

But it does not contradict either the Hoover position as a potential candidate nor the fact that there is a widespread activity to make Hoover the Republican party nominee next year.

Assuming that this movement will not be successful, either because of the Hoover refusal, or the failure of the Hoover effort to make good, or because of the strength of the demand for renomination of Calvin Coolidge, there is one thing apparent about Mr. Hoover. Either he should be given an increased capacity in the administration or he should seek some other activity. Eight years as head of the department of commerce is enough. Especially it is enough for a man of Mr. Hoover's talents. In that time he should have been able to impart to it all the initiative and originality that he has. It is now a routine job. He is a creator.

Health Topics

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of Journal of American Medical Association

In a recent textbook on the diagnosis of disease, at least twelve large pages were occupied with the discussion of causes of headache. The causes are apparently direct, such as those due to the absorption of poisons due to changes in the circulation and those due to conditions in the tissues immediately surrounding the brain, or reflex causes related to disturbances far removed in the body from the brain itself.

Among the most constant causes of headache are difficulties of vision, particularly eyestrain. In headache from eyestrain, the pain may develop slowly or rapidly, and may occur in any part of the head. When one eye is more affected than the other, the distribution of the pain may be related to that fact.

Among the most frequent cases of headache resulting from eyestrain is astigmatism or farsightedness, but weaknesses of the eye muscles may result in difficulties of accommodation and subsequent headache. A competent specialist in diseases of the eye may determine the difficulties of accommodation and by the prescribing of proper glasses overcome the symptom.

Sometimes the headache resulting from eyestrain is a reflex headache and is associated with symptoms elsewhere in the body, also brought about by the difficulty with the eyes. The patient may be nauseated; overtired, mentally or physically, or continually disturbed.

It is obviously not a wise policy to attempt to relieve such headaches by the giving of sedative or narcotic drugs. Recently, aspirin has become the mainstay of a large number of people who purchase a headache cure rather than attempt to find out the cause of the headache and to remove it.

In many instances proper personal hygiene, including a simple and a well balanced diet, proper regulation of the bowels and a proper relationship of outdoor exercise and rest, will do much to completely eliminate headaches, particularly if it has been determined that the headaches do not result from an ocular defect.

Relieving Inheritance Tax Burdens

By RALPH W. SMITH, Before Insurance Underwriter
ers Club of Los Angeles

Notable among the many bills recently passed by the California legislature which removes from the California inheritance tax act its seeming most objectionable feature, is designated as a reciprocal exemption provision. The step here taken by California is welcomed, by all believers in reciprocity, as a most direct and effective short cut toward abolishing the injustices arising from multiple inheritance taxation or death duties.

The community property amendment, which added Section 161 (a) to the California civil code, proposes to give to the wife during marriage a present and vested interest in the community property of the marriage by providing "the respective interests of the husband and wife in community property during continuance of the marriage relations are present, existing and equal interests, under the control of the husband . . ."

Some question might be made, particularly in view of the decision of the United States supreme court in the case of United States vs. Robbins, as to the right of the wife during marriage to report to her individual income tax return as income to her, one-half of the income from community property earned at a time after the effective date of said Section 161 (a), due to the fact that under the amendment the management and control of the community property still remains unchanged in the husband. It is, however, most certain that where community property passes in estates in California husbands whose demise is subsequent to the effective date of the statute, the wife surviving such widow will, by reason of the vesting language of the statute, receive a community exemption equal to one-half of the community estate, a right at this time denied the California widow by the federal government under its federal estate tax act, and a direct discrimination against California widows, since such exemptions are recognized as allowable to widows in all the other community property estates.

By the amendment drafted by our state controller, Ray L. Riley, and added to the California inheritance tax act, as aforesaid note, this state is now in the fore with that list of states which securely place their stamp of disapproval on a plan of raising revenue by double or multiple taxation. Inasmuch as the place of acquisition of such property, designated as community property under the California law, if the husband dies a resident of California or in any other state, if acquired by reason of their mutual efforts and joint enterprise, and they later establish their residence in California, upon the death of the husband, one-half of all such property is exempt to the widow under our law, and not only is this exemption applicable under the state law, but as heretofore indicated, it is also believed the exemption will be recognized by the federal government for federal estate tax purposes. California, by the addition of these amendments to her statutes is placed in a most favorable position over states which collect revenue by means of inheritance taxation. For example, it is the rule in many of the states east of the Rocky mountains to allow no exemption to a widow in respect to her dower interest in property, while under the California inheritance tax act, irrespective of the place of acquisition of such property, designated as community property under the California law, if the husband dies a resident of California, such widow takes free of inheritance tax one-half of all of such mutually acquired property in addition to her personal exemption of $24,000.

Little Benny's Note Book

Saturday afternoon I was downtown with ma on account of her making me go down with her so she would know where I was, and we started to go pass a way machine outside of a drug store, and I had a idea, saying, Hey ma, why don't you way yourself, and if you way eny lighter you don't need to be afraid to eat a ice cream soda and we can go in the drug store and have one.

Well, it may be a good idea to way myself, anyway, ma said.

Not saying anything about the ice cream soda idea. Being the main idea, and she got on the scale and put a cent in and nothing happened, ma said. My goodness, don't tell me its out of order after my cent is in there.

And she started to hit the sides of it with her hands, me saying, G'wizz, ma, its out of order all right, we didn't notice the size on the front of it.

Meening a sine hankling on by a piece of string saying Not Working, and ma said, Well Izzent that contemptable.

And she started to jump up and down a little to see if that would make it work. Which it didn't, and the drug store man came out of the store looking worried, saying, Its out of order, Madam, and you'll only make it worse.

Why didn't you come out and tell me that before I put my cent in? ma said, and the man said, But my dear madam, there is a big sign hanging rite there.

I didn't see the sine, ma said, and the man said, But my dear madam, surely that's not my fault, and ma said, Well I'm sure its not mine, my eyes are as good as anybody elses so it can't be my fault, you can't expect people to spend their lives reading signs on way machine, you awt to have a man standing out here working.

But my dear madam, a mans services are worth several dollars a day and Im lucky if that machine takes in 50 cents, the man said, and ma said, Well I can't help that, I can't be expected to solve your financial difficulties, and the man said, My dear madam, please allow me to refund your money, your logic is too much for me.

And he gave me my cent back and we went home without the ice cream soda on account of me not knowing whether she was lighter or heavier and feeling too exhausted to get on my more scales.

HELPFUL

The woman who was standing before the counter in the bank was getting restless. She had been standing in front of the cashier for a quarter of an hour, and he seemed to be unaware of her presence—at any rate, he took no notice of her.

"At last she became too irritated to keep quiet another moment.

"Why don't you pay attention to me?"

"I'm sorry, madam, but we don't pay anything here," was the short but polite reply. "Next window, please."—Tit-Bits, London.
